The Port Arthur News

VOL. XXII. NO. 160. PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 10, 1923.

Miss Donaldson Leads List In Favorite For Que

THERE ARE A number of major events in the life of any young woman. An opportunity to be Queen of the May, while yet a little tot in dresses to the knee; the debut to society in a few years following when skirts have been lengthened somewhat and she is blossoming into young womanhood. Then, too, for some, is the occasion of the great thrill when she stands before the white altar in all her finery and glory.

These are things that may come to any or all of the present generation of young Venuses.

* * * *

BUT THERE CAN be only one queen of the Port Arthur Quarter Centennial. Then, the event is gone for at least another twenty-five years.

And, in the present contest there is but one first prize—that of sitting upon the throne of honor, holding the ruling scepter over this great city for 24 hours.

VOTE STANDINGS OF PORT ARTHUR QUEEN CONTESTANTS

Miss Mary Donaldson	868	Mrs. Harry Holton	51	Mrs. Willa Robelshaw	2
Miss Blanche Smith	771	Miss Bernice LeBlanc	51	Mrs. W. H. Elliott	2

Miss Mary Foley	58	Mrs. R. I. France	9	Miss Mildred Tate	1
Miss Carrie Bertolone	53	Miss Beulah Floy Bledsoe	6	Miss Clemence Miquet	1
		Miss Beatrice Halloran	4

The selection made at the close of the present contest will be absolute and final. The young woman receiving the largest number of votes will be declared the winner.

It is a popularity contest—and the most popular potential queen will win.

* * *

ALREADY THERE ARE 37 maiden and young matrons entered in the race for the exalted position offered. During the voting of the next thirteen days, however, there may be much shifting in the column announcing the standing of the contestants today.

Which one of these is to wear the gorgeous queen costume, jewels and finery to be especially prepared for the resplendent court of honor on the memorable night, scarcely more than a fortnight away, will be determined only by the votes cast by News readers. Or it may be one who is not yet entered.

* * *

COUPONS CLIPPED from daily editions of The News and sent in to the Contest Editor constitute the method of balloting on Port Arthur's Centennial Queen. Coupon ballots on week days count for one vote for the contestant whose name is written in the blank line provided for that purpose. The Sunday coupon ballot counts for ten votes.

New candidates may be named at any time during the contest which will close positively at midnight of June 23. If you are not satisfied with the names thus far announced, pick your own favorite—you may name the winner.

PROTESTS INNOCENCE

Bodies of Tourists Found Near Camp Site

BOZEMAN, Mont., June 9.—Seth O. Donner, formerly of South Dakota, is in jail here tonight, accused by his wife of the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. John Sprouse of Mobridge, S. D., more than thirty months ago.

Donner protests his innocence

Members of Tourist Party

Authorities say they have a sworn statement from Mrs Donner, saying her husband killed the Sprouses while the two families were motoring west late in 1920. The murders occurred at Central Park, Montana, where the tourists were camping, according to the alleged statement.

Mrs. Donner's confession alleges that Mrs Sprouse was killed by blows from a hunter's axe the evening of November 14, 1920. A few hours before that Sprouse was shot and killed some distance from camp.

Leads Officers to Grave

Mrs. Donner led authorities to the couple's graves and the bodies were recovered, officials said.

Faced with his wife's accusation together with the written confession, Donner stoutly proclaimed his innocence here tonight. He admitted, police said, that he was camping with the Sprouses at the time of their disappearance, but declares he did not know what became of them.

The spot where the bodies were recovered was only a short distance from where the Donners were camping, officers said.

WEATHER CARD HERE ENLARGED

Port Arthur Bureau to Get National Reports

Advices on weather conditions recorded at observation stations throughout the United States and in parts of Canada will be forwarded twice daily to the weather bureau station in Port Arthur, according to word reaching Ernest Carson, observer here, Saturday night.

Are New Here

These reports on nation-wide weather conditions are different from the daily forecast of local weather conditions, Carson pointed out, and are new to the Port Arthur station.

Charts showing the weather conditions all over the country will be compiled from the reports coming in at 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. each day, Carson said. This information will be particularly valuable during the winter months, as it gives the formation and movement of various inland weather disturbances, he said.

Hurricane Observations

In addition to this special weather bureau service, the Port Arthur station will get all special observations on hurricanes during the season, June 1 to November 30, these special observations to be sent in from Brownsville, Texas, on the west Gulf coast, and Burwood, La., at the mouth of the Mississippi river, on the east Gulf coast, Carson said.

ELECT BRASWELL HEAD OF PRESS ASSOCIATION

GALVESTON, Texas, June 9.—Sam Braswell of Clarendon was elected this afternoon as president of the Texas Press Association for the coming year at the final session of the forty-fourth annual convention of that body here.

Amarillo was selected as the next convention city.

Booze Stores in Ships in Port Put Under Dry Seal

Custom Officials Here to Follow Washington's Orders To Clamp Lid on Tight on All But 'Medicine'

Skippers and stokers, A. B. seamen and mates on foreign ships in Sabine district ports today will call in vain for their "three fingers," "a wee nip o' Scotch" and a "swig" while stewards and mess attendants aboard the vessels shrug their shoulders and point to the United States customs seals placed on the stores of wines, whiskies and liquors.

For as the prohibition lid clamped down at one minute after midnight, even the daily ration of liquor allowed crews on foreign ships in American waters became taboo.

Get Order Saturday.

Definite instructions to this effect reached Sabine district customs headquarters in Port Arthur Saturday from MacKenzie Moss, assistant secretary of the treasury, in a telegram outlining directions for enforcing the United States supreme court's decision barring liquor from ships entering American ports.

Any intoxicating liquors either as cargo or sea stores for beverage purposes are ordered kept under seal while in American territorial waters, the telegram sets forth. Foreign ships sailing from foreign ports prior to June 10 also come under the order that liquor stores for beverage purposes be placed under seal, but in the cases of ships sailing from foreign ports after June 10, the beverage liquor stores are to be seized, unless medicinal permits are taken out, according to instructions from the treasury department.

While full text of the treasury department's instructions regarding the decision of the supreme court barring liquor from ships entering American waters is not expected by

3-Mile Booze Measure In Effect At Midnight

WASHINGTON, June 9.—America tonight locked its gate against booze. No ships which puts to sea after midnight tonight may legally bring beverage liquor across the imaginary line which marks the three-mile zone of American territorial waters.

LYNCH NEGRO

Mob Takes Prisoner, Hangs Him Before Church

DALLAS, June 9.—Richard Chapman, 24, negro, was taken from officers and hanged near Anderson, Texas last Tuesday night, according to word received here tonight.

The black, charged with attacking a 14 year-old white girl, was being rushed to Huntsville for safekeeping when the officers were stopped by the mob and forced to surrender their prisoner. He was hanged in front of a negro church.

Deputy Sheriff Fabian who had charge of the black declared he was unable to identify any of the lynchers because of their masks.

Bill Making Jitneys Common Carriers Is Engrossed by Senate

AUSTIN, Texas, June 9.—The Burkett bill to declare commercial vehicle lines common carriers, and to place them under the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission, was engrossed by viva voce vote in the senate late today after an amendment by Wirtz, transferring jurisdiction to the highway department was killed.

HOLD CHAUFFEUR FOR BEATING WIFE

14-Year-Old Girl Pounded Into Insensibility

DALLAS, Texas, June 9.—George Caven, 26, taxicab driver, was under arrest here tonight charged with having brutally beaten his 14-year-old wife, who yesterday morning staggered into a local hospital in a serious condition from a lashing administered her.

Mrs Caven was reported resting easy by hospital attaches.

According to the story told authorities the girl left her husband and went to work recently after he had beaten her when she confided she would soon become a mother. Thursday night as she was returning alone from a movie, he accosted her, she said, forced her to get into his cab under threat of death, and drove her to a secluded spot out from town where he administered the thrashing, beating her into insensibility.

It's Flag Day Thursday

Display Old Glory on your home and business place next Thursday.

This is the call going out from the Rudolph Lambert post, American Legion, sponsoring a community observance of Flag Day June 14, in Port Arthur.

A special Flag Day banquet with a National Emblem program is being arranged for Legionnaires by their women's auxiliary, the function to be given Thursday night in the First M. E. Church, Stilwell boulevard and Lake Shore drive, post officials said Saturday.

Gulf Oil Shipments During May Total 2,230,950 Barrels

Oil shipments from the Port Arthur terminals of the Gulf Refining company during the month of May totalled 2,230,950.35 barrels, according to a statement issued by the company Saturday. Refined oil products comprised 2,170,084.24 barrels of this total, 1,902,716.01 barrels of refined oils going coastwise, and 266,368.23 barrels foreign, the report states.

Crude oil shipments, totalling 71,-866.11 barrels, all went coastwise, the report shows.

OIL STAMPEDE ON AT SANTA RITA

Mad Rush Starts for Filings On 'U' Lands

BOOM FORECAST

Is First Well of Importance West of Ranger

AUSTIN, June 9.—A mad rush to file claims on state owned lands, rivalling in sensation the famous '49 California gold rush, and the Oklahoma "sooner" stampedes, is starting in Reagan county where the new Santa Rita oil well has been brought in, according to word received at the state land commissioners office here late today.

Land Owned by Texas U

The Santa Rita, brought in on land owned by the University of Texas, is the first well of importance in Texas west of Ranger, according to oil scouts, and a rush is on to file claims with the county clerk of Reagan.

E. R McLean, secretary of the state railroad commission, was the first to file a claim as a result of the developing oil boom. He was informed that he had thirty days in which to complete negotiations for four sections of land in that district, following his filing.

May Save Orient

Should the Santa Rita, which gushed high over its derrick, be the forerunner of a real oil boom in that county, two of Texas' institutions will be greatly benefitted. The University of Texas, which owns a large area of land, on which the operating lease is located, and the defunct Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad, serving that county and holding a right of way within a hundred yards of the well, would be pulled out of financial holes of serious nature.

OKLAHOMA HAS 20,000 BBL WELL

Bristow Gets Biggest in History of State

TULSA, Okla., June 9.—Out stripping the capacity of any other in the state and establishing a record well in Oklahoma since oil was found which is nothing short of phenomenal local oil interests yesterday brought in a well two miles northwest of Bristow, Oklahoma, flowing in excess of 20,000 barrels of oil a day.

The well made 1700 barrels the first hour, and at a late hour today was flowing 500 barrels every thirty-five minutes or at the rate of 14.30 barrels a minute. Although the well was brought in, in proven territory, in this field which was discovered it is the largest well ever brought in in this field which was discovered last. It is not definitely known yet, but believed that the oil bearing sand was encountered at a new depth of nearly 3300 feet.

Red Cross Renews Plea For Clothing

Those shoes and that clothing your boy has outgrown can be used by Port Arthur Red Cross officials.

Stocks in all kinds of old clothing are depleted, but especially is boys' clothing desired at this time, they said Saturday. Old garments considered useless and discarded can be reclaimed and turned over to worthy families needing the materials, it is pointed out.

A phone call to Red Cross headquarters, number 1214, will bring somebody out to get the clothing.

GALVESTON MEN SLAIN AT SEA

Lykes Line Officers Victims Of Crazed Mate

GALVESTON, June 9.—The captain, super-cargo and radio operator of the United States shipping board steamer Brave Cour were shot to death while the ship was two days out from Hamburg when the second officer ran amuck, according to word received here today at the Lykes Brothers Steamship company office.

Details Meager

Captain J. N. Neilson and Supercargo John G. Perry were both residents of Galveston, the latter shipping as supercargo for a vacation trip. Radio Operator A. Glasier was a resident of Norfolk, Virginia.

According to the meager details of the tragedy received here, Second Officer S. Tsettos fired the shots and then locked himself in his state room and attempted suicide. Otto Hausen, seaman, was wounded by a bullet from the second officers gun, the message stated.

Slayer Attempts Suicide

The shooting occurred June 6, but it was impossible to communicate with the company sconer because of the death of the radio operator. The message was sent Friday. Tsettos and Hausen were left at a hospital at Oporto, Portugal.

Information to the effect that Tsettos had committed suicide at Oporto was not contained in the message received here.

LAVA POURS FROM NEW CRACKS IN VESUVIUS

NAPLES, June 9.—Brilliant incandescent fountains of flaming lava are playing from new cracks broken on three sides of the eruptive cone of Mount Vesuvius today.

The huge volcano has been in eruption for nearly a fortnight, but authorities believe the present phase does not endanger the towns, fields and vineyards on its slopes.

JUDGE FREES THREE PUT IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

GEORGETOWN, Texas, June 9.—G. S. Dunbar, Godfrey Loftis and W. E. Peery of Elgin who were committed to jail here some 30 days ago on the grounds of contempt in refusing to answer questions propounded by the grand jury engaged in an investigation into the flogging of R. W. Burleson, were discharged late today by Judge James R. Hamilton.

Hears 'Home Sweet Home,' Tells Crime

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 9.—Detectives trying to find something of the past of a prisoner here who confessed to robbing several houses, rolled a phonograph into the detention room of detective headquarters and started playing songs of home and mother. As the last strains of "Home, Sweet Home" died away, the prisoner broke down and sobbed out his record of crime. Before being led off to his cell he requested detectives to send a Bible which he had stolen from the Methodist church at Edinburg Texas, back to the pastor.

PAGEANT TO BE OVER MILE LONG

Prizes Announced for Best Decorated Autos

Port Arthur's quarter centennial pageant, which will be one of the big features of the celebration July 4th, will be over a mile long, according to responses received by Chairman Rollin Drake Saturday.

To Form on Houston

The procession will form on Houston at Procter street and will run back to Seventh street and as far as Seventh street as necessary to carry for all who enter the pageant. With the head of the procession at Procter and Houston it will move up Procter promptly at a given hour and as far out Procter as will be necessary for it to pass a given point down town.

Included in the pageant will be decorated automobiles and floats of all descriptions. For the best looking auto the committee has decided to give three prizes of $50, $25 and $15.

Parade to Start on Minute

The parade committee has given a great deal of time and attention on the pageant and is working out details so that there will be no slip-up at the final moment. The committee has insisted that the parade start at the time announced and not a minute later. Part of the plans of the pageant committee include blocking of the streets where it forms in order that each float will have an individual spot on which to stay while the parade is being formed.

It was also announced this morning that section No. 23 belongs to the whisker club.

BLUE SKY WAR

Chicagoans Nipped by Curb Market Failures

CHICAGO, June 9.—Evidence charging 12 Chicago curb brokerage houses with "bucketing" and blue sky violations will be placed before a grand jury Monday or Tuesday, state's attorney Crowe announced tonight.

Word of the third New York house collapse in a few days speeded Crowe's activities. Chicago and middle western patrons have lost about $3,000,000 through the suspensions, according to estimates here.

Much Smoke, Little Fire

Presence of smoke along one of the walls of the Central Market store 1040 Procter street, gave the Central fire station a "wild" call at 6:30 Saturday evening.

Three pieces of apparatus answered the call but upon examining the store no fire could be located and the fire men returned to the station.

BANDITS WRECK TRAIN

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—Mexican bandits wrecked a passenger train near Puebla last night, causing deaths of a number of passengers, according to a dispatch to the newspaper El Excelsior today.

4 SQUARE MILES OF WICHITA, KAS., IS SUBMERGED

Thousands of Acres Wheat Under Water

TOWNS IMPERILED

Railroads and Wire Service Paralyzed

By United Press

One person was believed drowned and damage estimated at more than a million dollars caused by flood waters which swept through Kansas, Colorado and Western Oklahoma this morning.

Small streams and rivers swollen into raging torrents after 48 hours of torrential rains, flooded number of Kansas towns and rural communities, driving residents from their homes and inundating thousands of acres of rich farm lands.

Town Cut Off

Railroad service in Southwestern Kansas was at a standstill and many towns were cut off from outside communication with wire and telephone service paralyzed.

Four square miles of Wichita, Kansas, were reported inundated tonight. Municipal officials who are organizing emergency relief squads estimated that the damage in that vicinity alone would total a million dollars.

Residents at Pittsburg, Kansas, reported they saw a body floating down the Spring river which has overflowed its banks, flooding streets and near farm lands.

At Dunlap, Kansas, a stream of water three feet deep was rushing through the main business streets.

Emporia reported that thousands of acres of wheat ready for harvest were covered with water.

Many Towns in Danger

The record deluge which swept Kansas extended over Western Oklahoma and Eastern Colorado and many towns in these states reported they were imperiled by flood waters caused by rapidly rising streams and rivers.

Estes Park, noted Colorado summer resort, was cut off from surrounding territory when high waters washed out roads and bridges.

Heavy snows followed the torrential rains in some sections of Colorado. [illegible] were flooded.

Cherry creek swirls through Denver, was over[illegible] its banks, flooding storm sewers and suburban streets.

The Canadian river in Western Oklahoma had reached its highest stage in years and flood warnings were broadcast by officials. Property loss throughout that section will run high, railroad officials reported.

CIVITAN BANQUET TO DISCUSS WORLD MIND

Gathering Monday night, June 18, in the new Lake View hotel for the third lecture course in their International Mind series, members of the Civitan Club will hear discussions on "The Church and the International Mind," given by Rev. J. W. Holden, pastor of the First Christian church, Beaumont, Rev Kerwin, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic church, Beaumont, and Rabbi Henry Cohen, of Galveston.

A banquet will be served the Civitans, their wives and friends before the lectures are taken up by the speakers of the evening.

$10,000 WHISKER SUIT MAY BE FIRST BEFORE CITY COURT

J. R. Denny and Chief Watcher-in F. E. Gifford, along with several other members of the whisker club, are in the unenviable position. The fat's in the fire.

This $10,000 suit of T. C. Cowles's has them tight.

Realizing the complete futility of denying the allegations that they, in a fit of jealous rage, bullied a certain Port Arthur barber to substitute a ragged[illegible] shave for the "marvelous and magnificent beard" Candidate Cowles had started, the defendants in the court action held a hasty conference.

It was decided that the easiest way out of the difficulty was to pay the amount asked and keep the matter out of the courts.

However, V. J. Widmer, attorney for the victim of the whisker whacking whim, was alleged to have been instrumental in "egging" on the bringing of suit in order to be first with a case in Port Arthur's new city court next Monday. It was stated that he met with J. R. Denny, spokesman for the whiskerites; and agreed to accept payment of the $10,000 for his client with the understanding that the amount would be paid in German marks.

This met with the approval of Whiskerino Denny, and, after consulting with the co-defendants, he dispatched a cablegram to Berlin exchange requesting immediate dispatch of the paper marks.

"Everything was jake," according to Denny, "over Thursday and Friday." But word received Saturday has ruined everything.

"Impossible to comply with your request," read the return cable from Berlin today. "We have enough troubles in Europe without invitting international complications with the United States. We positively refuse to have any business transaction whatever with any American Whiskerino Club, or their members."

That's why J. R. Denny, et al, are perspiring freely today and uttering strange sounds in their beards. Of course, the signature affix of "whisker club" being transmitted to the Berlin exchange as "whisky club" was merely a cable error.

Now, the new city court opens at 9 a. m. Monday and there isn't time to get off another cable and reply, not to mention actual shipment of the marks themselves even should the incredulous Berlinites credit the second wire.

And, Attorney Widmer will be jokeless on the spot with Cowles's $10,000 suit in perfect legal style.

Balloon Dance

Opening at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, June 23, with a "balloon dance," the annual picnic at the park will continue all day Sunday, featured by a monster free fish fry Sunday afternoon and boxing events late Sunday evening, ending with dancing far into the night, the officials said.

While the dancers on the floor carry toy balloons and appear in balloon costumes, lights of various colors will be thrown on them. The dance pavilion to be constructed in the park is planned to be 80 feet by 90 feet, and a nine-piece orchestra is engaged for both Saturday and Sunday nights.

Invite Public

A general invitation to the public to attend the picnic is extended by the local officials said, and arrangements are being made for several thousand persons Sunday, they said.

An eight round boxing bout, scheduled to be put on by Kid Mannino, of Port Arthur and Battling Bailey, of New Orleans, at 5:30 Sunday afternoon, June 24, will be free to the picnickers, the officials declared. For a preliminary to the bout, a battle royal will be staged.

BOOZE STORES IN

customs officials here before Monday, a copy of the decision has reached Dr. T. J. Liddell, U. S. public health surgeon, in charge of the Sabine district, A. A. Gunter, assistant collector of customs for the Sabine district, said Saturday.

Sick? Then It's Different

"American and foreign ships can purchase intoxicating liquors in quantities up to five gallons on a certificate issued by a United States public health surgeon that the liquor is for medicinal needs," Gunter said, commenting upon the court's decision which he read.

"In order to secure more than five gallons, application will have to be made by the master of the vessel to the state director of federal prohibition enforcement, and then if the fact is established that the liquor was secured under false pretenses, the master is liable to prosecution under the prohibition laws, and the permit issued becomes null and void," Gunter said.

This ruling applies only to American and foreign merchant vessels, Gante pointed out, and explained that foreign war ships are permitted to carry liquor stores and issue liquor rations daily according to the customs of their countries. Liquors subject to diplomatic exemption also shall be passed by customs officials, the telegram Saturday states.

Ships carrying liquor as cargo or sea stores which are forced into American ports as a result of emergencies or casualties on the seas will have to give bond to customs officials insuring liquor delivery will not be made in the United States, Gunter said.

When a vessel sailing from a foreign port with liquor in cargo or sea stores clears from a foreign port, this vessel cannto enter an American port, even for a call visit, while the liquor is aboard, the assistant collector of customs pointed out. He gave as an example: If a vessel left Scotland with a cargo of whisky for delivery to a Mexican port and came into Port Arthur for cargo consigned to Mexico before delivering the liquor in Mexico, the vessel would have to get rid of its liquor in cargo and sea stores.

Here's the Order

The full copy of the telegram received Saturday from the assistant secretary of the treasury is as follows:

"Pursuant supreme court decision and internal revenue T. D. 3404, effective 12:01 a. m. Sunday, June 10, 1923, no merchant vessel, domestic or foreign, may carry within territorial waters United States and islands, and other possessions except Philippine Islands and Panama Canal Zone any intoxicating liquors either as cargo or sea stores for beverage purposes except in cases of foreign vessels leaving foreign ports prior June 10, in which case all liquors on aboard shall be kept under customs seal while in American territorial waters. Liquors subject diplomatic exemption shall be handled heretotore. Liquors for non-beverage purposes may be transported under prohibition permits. Liquors on board vessels in violation hereof should be seized by customs officers. Regulations mailed today."

FLAPPER KILLER HUNT FRUITLESS

50 Suspects Fail to Show Mona Lisa Smile

CHICAGO, June 9.—Identity of the girl bandit with "blue eyes and a smile" who killed Richard C. Tessmer Tuesday night during a robbery, was declared likely to become an "unsolved mystery" by police tonight.

Fifty or more women have been exhibited before Mrs. Tessmer, the widow since the shooting and she failed to identify any of them although reiterated tonight that she would know the "right one" by a particular smile and blue eyes impressed upon her mind as she saw her husband shot down.

The last three suspects answering the general description of "blue eyes and a peculiar smile" were exonerated today. Mrs. Tessmer failed to identify two and the other, known as "the female Tommy O'Connor" (gunman) proved an alibi.

Mother Asks Permission To Visit Son With Father

NEW YORK, June 9.—Mrs. Florence G. Cooper of Passaic, N. J., has applied to Supreme Court Justice Callaghan in Brooklyn for an order to permit her to visit her 6-year-old son, Robert Watkins, now living with his father at Glendale, L. I.

She told the court that the boy's father will not permit her to see her son. Justice Callaghan reserved decision.

CANINES THINK, DOCTOR CLAIMS

More Convolution in Brain Than Other Animals

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Dogs can think, according to Dr. William J. Lentz, professor of anatomy in the veterinary school of the University of Pennsylvania.

He explains as follows:

"The brain of a dog has more convolutions or folds on the cerebral surface than any other animal except man. Some physiologists deny that this is any indication of the degrees of mental power, but it seems to be pretty well borne out that it is. There are many cases on record which show evidence of thought by dogs."

Dr. Lentz said that some dogs seem to understand that, even though veterinarians hurt them, they are really aiding them.

RISQUE PHOTOGRAPHS COST YOUTH $50 FINE

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—Raymond Day, 26, was fined $50 in District Court on a charge of distributing obscene literature.

He was arrested after detectives had obtained information that he maintained a "theatrical agency" in a "studio" taking risque photographs, which he sold to acquaintances of the subjects.

TAYLOR MURDER LOSES ROMANCE

Robbery Clue Anti-Climaxes Closing Curtain

SEATTLE, Wash., June 9.—One more effort was in progress tonight to answer the riddle of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, movie director which took place two years ago in Los Angeles.

Police of half a dozen coast towns and cities were searching for a "six foot Texas cowboy," named Otis Heffner, in the belief that he may be the man who holds the answer to the mystery which had gone down as one of the most sinister in the annals of crime.

Paroled From Pen

Heffner is at liberty from the Washington penitentiary under a suspended sentence for alleged felony.

Since he dropped from sight some weeks ago authorities here said they had come into reliable information that a bond and a diamond which he was said to have offered Crawford E. White, attorney, as a retainer once were the property of the murdered Taylor.

Searching deeper into the lanes opened by this information, they came into possession of a story Heffner is alleged to have told of a gang of bandits, one of whom is alleged to have murdered and robbed Taylor.

An Anti-Climax

Which means, that if this account should prove true, then all of the sensational stories which surrounded the death of the movie man, the tales of motion picture actresses enamoured of him; of drug peddlers killing him in revenge for the vigorous blows he is known to have struck at their trade; of blackmail; of unfaithful servants; of hands reaching out of an adventurous past to settle old debts; and of all countless other stories were bluzoned to the world to no purpose and without bearing on the case.

As for Heffner, he is not himself suspected of the murder, but according to Matt Starwich, sheriff, Thomas Carmody, deputy prosecutor and attorneys Crawford E. White and George Olson, he may be able to tell who it was that shot Taylor to death.

Killed 2 Years Ago

Taylor, who was known as one of the greatest of the makers of popular motion pictures, was shot to death at his home in Los Angeles one evening, nearly two years ago. Last seen he was bidding goodbye to Mabel Normand, in front of his home.

The sensation which followed has seldom been equalled in a criminal case. One after one, the many theories advanced were followed through and led nowhere.

Names of movie stars were publicly connected with that of Taylor. Many others came into the scope of the investigation but never reached the point of publication. Finally by the majority of the investigators accepted as most probable the story that a drug peddler, enraged because Taylor had ruined the narcotic trade among members of his immediate circle and had soundly thrashed one agent who tried to entice back to the ranks of the drug addicts a famous screen beauty, who had thrown off the habit with Taylor's help, had committed the murder.

BULGARIAN COUP JAILS MINISTERS

Stamboulisky Government Is Overthrown

BUCHAREST, June 9.—A bloodless coup d'etat was effected at Sofia today, the Bulgarian government of Premier Stamboulisky was overthrown and a new ministry with Professor Zankoff at its head established.

Early this morning, soldiers under the leadership of ex-officers and aided by politicians of the parties opposed to the peasant government, raided the parliament buildings and arrested all ministers and deputies they could find. Others surrounded homes of ministers throughout Sofia and captured the entire government.

Frontiers were closed and the militia controlled the situation immediately following the revolt but there was no armed resistance and late tonight everything was tranquil.

Big Audience Sees Red Cross Expert In Nat Exhibition

Before an audience that filled the stands and crowded along one side of the Plaza natatorium, Captain J. S. Law, assistant director of life saving for the Southwestern division, American Red Cross, demonstrated life saving, resuscitation and swimming methods Saturday night.

Today Captain Law is scheduled to go to the Port Arthur Boy Scouts camp on Beech creek, near Silsbee, where he will put on a similar demonstration and gave the Scouts instruction in swimming and life saving work. Returning to Port Arthur Monday he will repeat the demonstrations at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the pool at Franklin school for the special benefit of Port Arthur Camp Fire Girls, their guardians and Boy Scouts, who are not in the summer camp.

Captain Law's visit to Port Arthur was arranged by the Red Cross chapter here, and in addition to his actual swimming demonstrations, he has met various officials and members of the police and fire departments.

SCOUTS PREPARE FOR OPEN HOUSE

All in Good Health, Look Forward to Sunday Visitors

Special to The News.

PORT ARTHUR SCOUTS CAMP, BEECH CREEK, June 9.—Sunday ushers in the red letter day for Port Arthur Boy Scouts in 1923 summer camp when parents, other relatives and friends make the pilgramage from the seashore to the piney woods to see the lads waxing fat on balsam laden ozone, three squares a day, fishing, swimming and out door life.

In anticipation of lots of visitors from home Sunday, the Scouts have policed the camp from entrance to out posts, shined the skillets and pans, cleaned up their clothes and their tents and now are marking time until the caravan of automobiles bearing fond mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, and all the rest of the families and friends, arrive.

No Need for Doctor

Discouraged because day after day he pays his visits to the camp and finds nothing to do but bandage up a few sore toes, the camp physician is threatening to refuse to take his money.

Repairing cots sat upon by three Scouts tipping the scales past the 150 pound mark, Scouts Moore, William Caughlin and Royal Hartford, has taken a place in the regular daily routine of camp life. Reinforcements in the shape of soap boxes placed under the cots, in anticipation of visits by the heavyweights, remedy the situation to some extent, but the soap boxes are giving out.

The excellent spirit of the Scouts wasn't dampened by the shower Friday morning. For a few hours the rain put a crimp in out-door Scouting work and instruction, but in the afternoon the regular hikes and games, forming the bulk of the afternoon activities, were resumed.

Wrestling matches, boxing bouts and other entertainment events feature the evening hours around the camp fire. Each troop puts on these camp fire programs, and in their list of stunts presented Friday night, Troop 3 scored one of the hits of the camp.

At the close of the first week in the camp on Beech Creek, the muster shows 109 Boy Scouts and 10 scoutmasters and assistants present and accounted for. Word reaching us from Port Arthur is to the effect that others will come out for the second week of the encampment.

LIGHTNING KILLS GIRL SEWING ON TROUSSEAU

ATLANTA, Ga., June 9.—Lightning, which struck her father's summer home, claimed the life of Miss Mary Louise Everett, young society woman of St. Simon's Island, off the southern coast of Georgia.

Miss Everett had motored to St. Simon's and was preparing her trousseau before a voyage to China, where she was to wed Professor Howe of the Hankow Christian College.

NECK BROKEN, LUCKY TO LIVE

Vet Philosophizes on Affliction by War

SAN ANTONIO, Jun 9.—His neck broken by a dive into the municipal pool at San Pedro Park, yet alive, the broken vertebrae held firmly in a plaster cast, R. L. "Jack" Perry, 33-year-old World War veteran, has decided that he is the luckiest man in the world, lucky to come through all of the "tough luck" that has befallen him in the last few years.

Perry served in the World War with the Sixty-Sixth Infantry, Rainbow division. He was gassed three times and wounded seven times in the war and now is on the government disabled list, drawing compensation.

Coming to San Antonio for the benefit of his lungs, which were weakened by the gas; Perry was run over by a motor car soon after his arrival. His left leg was fractured above the knee.

Not quite a year ago he was working at Camp Travis on some construction when a steel girder fell, striking Perry a glancing blow, but with sufficient force to fracture his left arm.

Christmas day, 1922, the home of a neighbor on West Salinas street caught fire and while waiting for the department to arrive Perry climbed on the roof and aided in pouring water on the flames. The dense smoke was too much for his lungs, weakened by gas, and he was overcome. Falling from the roof, he was made unconscious for a time.

SAYS EVOLUTION NOT DISRELIGION

Scientist Claims Darwinism Not Foe to Belief

DELAWARE, O., June 9.—To the scientist nature must be "no God or all God," Dr. E. L. Rice, professor of zoology at Ohio Wesleyan University and student of the evolutionary theory, declared today, in the eighth and final lecture of a series on evolution, the general subject of which has been, "Does Evolution Conflict With Christianity?"

"The evolutionist or other scientist cannot accept the supposedly orthodox view of an occasional God, active in the creation of the first flowers and the first man, but leaving the original of the flowers and men of today to 'nature.'

"But the scientist has no quarrel with that 'doctrine of divine immanence which finds in the divine will the only efficient causation in nature, recognizing what are called secondary causes as only convenient symbols to express the method and order of divine activity.'

Quotes Minister

"The quotation is from a man who has been for more than half a century an ordained minister of the Methodist College and who has given much of his best thought to emphasizing the necessary harmony of God's truth as revealed in the Bible and God's truth as revealed in the book of nature."

Discussing the present attack upon evolution from a religious point of view, Professor Rice said, "The belief or disbelief of any man or any group of men in the evolution theory is of little significance. It is a very different matter when a prominent individual or an influential group of men insists that evolution (and modern science in general) have precluded faith in God. The educated and scientific youth of today is progressive and scientific. Confronted with this alternative, some will give up science. Others will discard religion.

"Evolution is today universally accepted by serious students of biology and very generally by non-biological thinking men, clerical and lay alike. The theory has become so ingrained in the thought of the times that its professed opponents must guard themselves closely to avoid accepting it when not properly labeled. History will repeat itself; tomorrow evolution, like Galileo's astronomy, will be the commonplace of every day thought, and again religion will not have suffered."

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—He was the nursemaid for their 2-year-old child while his wife danced and hiked with other men., Seward Chapman complained in divorce court.

He said his wife wouldn't let him take her places, but went with other men, leaving him at home to keep house.

CROOKS BEHIND JAIL DELIVERIES

Tools Furnished Inmates of Atlanta Prison

ATLANTA, June 9.—Highly organized and powerfully financed, an international crook ring, believed to have intrenched itself in Atlanta for the purpose of aiding any of its convicted members in effecting their escape from the federal prison, has drawn the attention of prison authorities and agents of the department of justice.

Since the recent escape of Gerald Chapman, notorious "million dollar" mail bandit, and the more recent escape of Luis De Shelley, master foreign note counterfeiter, federal authorities have been reticent in discussing the exact angle of their investigations.

Gerald Chapman Succeeds

It is conceded by investigators that Gerald Chapman has made good his flight. He is now believed to be in Mexico. Luis De Shelley, all circumstances indicate, has succeeded equally well in making his escape.

When Chapman, with his companion, Frank Grey, scaled the prison walls they left behind a full set of tools used in sawing bars and a ladder used in scaling the walls.

De Shelley's sole discarded implement of escape was a periscope, ingenius in design, used in timing his actual exit. Where, federal authorities ask, do these fleeing prisoners get the tools and devices used in effecting their escape?

De Shelley is said to be practically unknown to American crooks. He is a Spaniard. His father was once well known in the consular service of his country.

This brings the international angle to the mysterious operations of the crooks, both inside and outside the Atlanta bastile.

William J. Burns, chief of the Department of Justice, visited the Atlanta prison soon after Chapman made his series of sensational getaways. He inspected the implements used by the prisoners in effecting their escape. The periscope is an instrument little known to the public in general.

The federal authorities are said to have turned their attention to rigid investigation of the indicated powerful crook ring—so powerful that none of its members remain behind prison bars.

MOUND BUILDER FORT EXPLORED

'Ammunition' in Structure Thousands of Years Old

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 9.—Exploration and mapping of a remarkable fort in Kentucky constructed by the Mound Builders several thousand years ago, is being carried on by Professor Wilbur Greeley Burroughs, assistant geologist of the Kentucky Geological Survey.

This is the first detailed investigation and survey that has ever been made of this prehistoric work, large portions of which have been brought to light for the first time, Dr. Willard Rouse Jillson, state geologist, said recently.

This fort, known as Indian Fort, is located three and one-half miles southeast of Berea. Professor Burroughs' exploration shows that it covers 250 acres on the flat top of a knob, 620 feet vertically above the surrounding valleys.

Stone walls, usually consisting of limestone and conglomerate rocks loosely piled together, guard each of thirteen possible approaches to the summit. Cliffs, 100 to 180 feet high, protect the other side of the fort.

The stone varies in length from eight feet across a narrow trial to 1,200 feet along the edge of a twenty-five foot cliff, which could have been scaled with the aid of primitive ladders of prehistoric times.

In places vulnerable to attack the walls are built of flat, evenly laid rocks forming a perpendicular rampart. This method of construction is said to be rare and shows that the mound builders had advanced intellectually farther than some archaeologists have heretofore believed, according to Professor Burroughs.

Even the cracks in the cliffs only large enough for one man to enter at a time, if accessible from below, and barricaded with regularly laid stone walls. Piles of ammunition still lie at intervals behind the walls where the defenders of the fort had placed them far back in the dawn of history.

Professor Burroughs and voluntary assistants from the geology students of Berea College have been excavating in the rockhouses and caves of the Indian Fort during the past seven months for the remains of the prehistoric inhabitants.

In several rockhouses they have discovered splinters, possibly of human bone, together with stone axes, arrow heads, flint knives, scrapers, etc.

CARP EATS LETTUCE OUT OF A FLOODED GARDEN

WAHLUKE, Wash., June 9.—Truck gardeners, driven from their fields by the annual spring overflow of the Columbia river, returned to see huge carp eating their head-lettuce and young cabbages. In the clear water of the irrigation ditches carp, salmon and other kinds of fish came right into the garden patches. The carp nosed about pulling at grass, vegetables and tree roots like hungry cattle.

MARSHALS AND THE SENATE

Governor J. A. O. Preus of Minesota had his political game blocked at the eleventh hour. He had arranged to resign his office of governor and to be appointed to a seat in the senate to fill the vacancy created the death of Senator Nelson. Preus' intentions were laudable but he failed to consult with Lieutenant Louis F. Collins, the lieutenant-governor of Minnesota.

Collins is a politician. He hopes to be governor some day. He said that the people should decide by direct vote who would wear the mantle of their departed senator. 'Tis true that the resignation of Preus would have made Collins governor if the plan had not miscarried but Collins had his ear to the ground, he knew that the non-partisans had elected a senator last year and he feared that if he became a party to the trade the non-partisans might elect a governor in 1924.

Now a special election will be held in Minnesota on July 16 to elect a successor to Nelson and the primary will be held June 18. Governor Preus may be a candidate in the primary. Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin has decided to make a tour of Minnesota in the interest of a progressive republican, as he did last year, when through his efforts Dr. Henrik Shipstead, a farmer labor candidate, was elected over Senator Frederick M. Kellogg.

The claim is made that the LaFollette control of the legislative situation in the next senate is gradually increasing. Before the death of Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, and Senator Samuel Nicholson of Colorado the republican majority was ten.

Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado appointed Alva B. Adams, democrat, the successor of Nicholson and the republican majority is now six. If a progressive is elected from Minnesota the republican majority would be four, and LaFollette's hold will be strong enough to prevent any party measures not acceptable to the radical group from passing the senate unless they receive the support of about ten senators who are classed as democrats.

Of the senators classed as republicans ten are committed to the LaFollette legislative policy. Therefore the Wisconsin stormy petrel of politics will actually hold the balance of power in the next senate.

Senator Adams, democrat of Colorado, is for a further test of private ownership of the railroads with continued government supervision, repeal of the clause of the Esch-Cummins act creating the railroad labor board, enforcement of the eighteenth amendment; an adequate and effective line of defence and the the international policy of LaFollette and those who agree with him do not meet Adams' approval

If the presidential election should be thrown into the house for decision the LaFolletteites, in a vote by states, may name the successor to Warren G. Harding. Politics may be a gambling game next year.

PAY THE PREACHER

Many interesting statistics were read for the edification of the delegates to the Presbyterian general assembly in session in the city of Indianapolis. An elder from Pennsylvania showed by a long line of figures that ministers on the average were not as well paid as "alien ditch diggers." This he declared to be an economic and moral crime.

According to the statistics submitted the average minister receives scarcely more than the garbage collector, one-half the wage of the carpenter, one-third the wages of the mason. Of the 170,000 active clergymen in the United States only 1671 paid an income tax in excess of $3000 last year while over 21,000 lawyers and over 20,000 doctors did pay such an income tax.

The punch in the thing the elder from Pennsylvania started something. It was resolved that a campaign be pushed for a $15,000,000 fund for ministerial pensions and relief. William Jennings Bryan is a delegate. His pen and his tongue earn an income of $50,000 a year.

Will H. Hays, president of the motion picture producers of America, is an elder and commissioner from an Indiana Presbytery although he claims New York City as his place of residence.

As a welfare worker and movie uplifter, Colonel Hays takes down a salary of $125,000 a year. But alien ditch diggers take down higher salaries than the preachers of America while two famous Presbyterian politicians have amassed comfortable fortunes by dexterious use of tongue and pen.

Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado is in the limelight. Woodrow Wilson named a senator for him to appoint; William Jennings Bryan named a favorite; William Gibbs McAdoo had a choice and General Leonard Wood gave a friend a lift by cable. Sweet turned them all down and named a rank outsider.

HAYS A GO-GETTER

Col. Will Hays, Napoleonic uplifter of the movies, made a discovery that the 10,000 Presbyterian clergymen of America receive an average salary of $34.67 per week and forthwith he launched a campaign for a fund of $15,000,000 to the ministers' pension fund.

Colonel Hays is a go-getter. Just think what he did to the democrats when the republicans made him chairman of their national committee two years ago. He launched the greatest publicity campaign in the history of American politics to lure millions from the pockets of republicans into the war chest of the campaign managers and he put over Harding and Coolidge by a popular majority of 7,000,000. Colonel Hays is a powerful man. He knows what he wants and when he wants it he goes and gets it. Now he'll get the $15,000,000 for the ministers' pension fund and the financial kings of movieland may help the cause along.

GROWTH OF FACTIONS

Can any student of our times, in America, or the world, doubt for a moment that factionalism is developing as never before? We have our factions which seek to promote this or that interest, without regard to the relationship to others and without regard for the common weal. We have factions of hatred and prejudice and violence. We have coalitions which would invade the constitutional rights of others or subvert the constitution itself. We have our factions challenging both civil and religious liberty and without them both made everlasting secure there can be no real human liberty. We have the fatal factionalism which contemplates obstruction to the execution of the law. No nation will survive which this factionalism is endured. Hamilton warned us that "however such combinations or associations may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely themselves to to usurp the reins of government, destroying afterward the very engines which have lifted them to unjust dominion." Washington uttered the same caution. It was Hamilton's conception that the federal influence would crush out the same factions, taking heed, of course, of whatever a call to real justice had in any way inspired. Many proclaimed him a monarchist and a foe of liberty. Others thought him an imperialist and an enemy of democracy, but he was none of these. It was from Hamilton's lips that came the finest utterance ever made concerning human liberty. "the sacred rights of mankind are written as with a sunbeam, by the hand of Divinity itself, never to be erased or obscured by mortal power."—President Harding.

ALIENS COMING IN

According to Washington advices during the last fiscal year the number of immigrants admitted was 309,556, of whom 243,953 were from countries to which the three per cent limitation applies. That is, three per cent of nationals in this country in 1910.

About 75,000 more immigrants have arrived already this year from these countries, chiefly European, and the excess over last year by June 30, promises to be close to 100,000. Furthermore it is claimed that with the Canadians and others not subject to limitation who are coming in the total immigration this fiscal year is likely to be not far from 450,000, an excess of nearly 150,000 over last year.

It is said immigration from the British Isles this year already is nearly equal to 79,577 admitted in 1921 before the three per cent law went into effect which was not far short of the normal British immigration before the world war. Skilled and unskilled labor furnished the principal increases in the immigration this year over last year and while more workers are coming, fewer workers are departing. According to the immigration statisticians in the ten months of this fiscal year only 65,775 aliens have emigrated, compared with 198,717 last year.

In addition, last year, 70,126 native born Americans and 9,072 naturalized Americans emigrated, chiefly to Poland, Canada and Italy. This is what prosperity is doing for America. Last year thousands of aliens, seeking to better their economic conditions, landed on these shores.

A COMMONER WINS HONOR

King George has named Stanley Baldwin as prime minister of Great Britain. In doing this, the king ignored the existence and the political ambition of Lord Curzon. Baldwin is a commoner, a newcomer in politics, a statesman who has risen from political obscurity to the highest rung of the political ladder in less time than four years. This is a world of change but Great Britain is changing faster than any one of the other nations of the earth. Universal suffrage is responsible for the change and 146 labor members of parliament constitutes a potential force that even a king must recognize.

MONEY TO BURN

An Iowa editor of a weekly farm journal prints the astounding information that the American railways make $25,000,000,000 profit every year. This is not the most depressing side of the story. Many of his readers will gulp it down and swear it is the gospel truth. There are men who contend that figures never lie. They should go to Iowa and interview the author of the $25,000,000,000 profit story. Not long ago an expert estimated the value of American railways somewhere in the neighborhood of $9,000,000,000. Politics is a funny game and the Iowa editor must be a devoted follower of Senator Smith Brookhart who is preaching an amazing gospel of political economy.

WHO WOULD RETURN?

Now the reformers are growing noisy in Illinois. They say that in 1915 the lawmakers appropriated $47,000,000 for the maintenance of all departments of state government for two years; in 1921 lawmakers appropriated $120,000,000 for a like purpose. These critics of progress in Illinois neglect to tell the people that the lawmakers invested $30,000,000 in good roads and that a civilized commonwealth needs good roads if it needs anything. Civilization comes high but who would vote to return to the ox-cart period, mud roads, bridgeless streams and to other relics of the ox-cart days?

"The Wolverine"

"The Wolverine" starring the ever daring Helen Gibson which is the attraction at the Liberty theater for two days, boasts of three of the most daredevil horseback riders in the United States today Nothing too great can be said of the work of Miss Gibson in her past performances but to add Leo Maloney and Jack Connolly to her side in one production is a feat hard to be duplicated.

In the making of "The Wolverine," which is from the pen of B. M. Bower, Spencer Productions, Inc., saw to it that the best cast and the finest locale possible were brought together. So as to allow both Maloney and Connolly to assist Miss Gibson in this wonder play, it was necessary to wait three weeks.

Keen was the rivalry manifested in the shooting of the perilous scenes in this mammoth production. Weekly prizes were given for the most daring feats and when the night scenes were made in the blinding snowstorms, a record hard to equal was accomplished.

Border Town on Edge as Day of "Pale Face" Ring Battle Draws Near

Shelby Prize Arena Given Inspection By Gibbons and Family

Challenger Tugs at Ring Posts While Wife and Kiddies Wonder at Massive Forests; Red Men Give Royal Reception to Fighter

By HENRY L. FARRELL

SHELBY, Mont., June 9.—Down in the depths of a big pine crater the Gibons family tonight looked over the arena in which the head of the house is to fight Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championsip, July 4.

The family inspection of the battle ground was not prearranged. Tommy, his wife and two little Gibbonses had returned from the Black Feet Indian reservation where the bloods of the tribe, headed by the venerable Chief Mountain, turned out for them, in the ring tourney of their day. Tommy wanted to look over the "stockade" which had been built near the arena for his training work.

While he was pulling at ring posts, testing ropes and inspecting the floor, Mrs. Gibbons and two of her youngsters were gazing in wonder at the towering pile of pine in front of them.

"Tom, may we look at the arena?" Mrs. Gibbons suggested, and Tom took the two youngsters by the hand and helped them up the steel runways to the top of the structure.

Neither one of the youngsters gave any outward knowledge of what the scene was for or what it meant to them. Tommy, aged 5, the oldest, however, according to his father, knows what is to take place on July 4 and what brought the family out among all the cowboys and Indians.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons have discussed their mission here in front of the family, but only little Tommy is old enough to understand.

Jackie, aged 3, is so busy looking at the cowboys and Indians that he has time for nothing else.

While they were looking over the arena, neither Tom nor his wife made any comment. After they had driven away, Mrs. Gibbons said she was amazed by the size of it, and Tom's only comment was, "They're certainly getting it up in a hurry."

Gibbons did seven miles on the road this morning with Bud Gorman and a newspaper man. He wanted to go further, but turned around, after 1-2 miles out of the hills, and remarked:

"We've got three more weeks of this and we'd better not go so fast."

During the hike, Gibbons made his first actual reference to Dempsey or the fight. His companions had stopped for a rest and he remarked, "There are lots of nice places in these hills to stretch out and Dempsey is going to use one of them."

All the excitement about who's going to run this town has subsided and the town isn't worrying much about the restriction on the entertainment, from the space taken up on the sidewalk by many of the cowpunchers, who came in with the loudest of their Saturday shirts and neckwear, they were more than saddle sore.

Attorney General Rankin was expected to arrive late tonight for an inspection of the "Days of the King Pin," the "Black Cat," and other resorts that were floored by the legal fight head early in the week.

Shelby is fairly dry now and punch fans say "She's dry as they'll ever make 'em down."

Several of the side street saloons announced from signs on the wall, sandwiches here, but no hard liquor."

Gibbons intends to start boxing tomorrow afternoon with Bud Gorman, the only one of his sparring partners who has arrived. Gorman is badly sunburned and Tommy has promised to be "reasonable." Tommy will also make a public appearance when he passes out the first ball in a game between the home team and some other team.

Tournament On At Country Club Today

The records made during the past week at the local Country Club are in danger today.

They were in danger yesterday, too, but the final outcome of the tournament which began on the golf course there yesterday morning will not be known until after the close of the contests today.

George Craig hung up an individual score during the past week, turning in a record for nine holes that will probably set as a mark for others to shoot at during the tournament today.

Woman Routs Prowler; Dinner Plate Weapon

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 9. — Mrs. Kate Adams, proprietor of a rooming house here, threw a dinner plate at a prowler who was trying to climb into a window and hit him on the head with such force that he left a hasty retreat and did not return.

Mrs. Adams says she chose a dinner plate because she can throw one more accurately than most other objects.

BONEHEAD PLAY WINS FOR TEAM

Urban Shocker Throws the Game Away

ST LOUIS, June 9.—Pitcher Urban Shocker of the St. Louis Browns is regarded as one of the best pitchers in the American League. Not only has Shocker a world of stuff but also plenty of pitching knowledge.

When American League players discuss Shocker as a pitcher, special stress is laid on his ability to mix them up, his great control, and his knowledge of the weakness of the opposing batsman. In other words, Shocker is known as a brainy pitcher, who uses the old noodle as well as the arm.

All of which is preliminary to the statement that even the wisest of heads can make the most ludicrous mistakes. In a recent game with Washington, Shocker pulled a stunt that shapes up well with stealing a base with that particular sack occupied by another runner.

With the score a tie, the bases filled and one out, the Browns, infield moved in to cut a possible run off at the plate, in case a ground ball was hit to the infield. St. Louis fans were confident that Shocker would catch himself out of the hole, because it is in the pinches that he does his best work.

At a tense moment with the count two balls and two strikes on the batter, Shocker made a quick turn in the direction of first and snapped the ball directly over the heart of the bag. Unfortunately no one was within 10 feet of the throw. Two runs crossed the plate and the runner on first reached third.

"Just pulled a bone," was the only alibi Shocker offered. "ball players do those things occasionally."

Since the Browns won the game in 10 innings the "bone" will soon be forgotten, yet it is a classic from the ivory point of view.

SENSE OF HUMOR

"Ducky" Holmes, one of the latest additions to the American League staff of umpires, is not without a sense of humor.

Holmes, who for years played minor league ball, and who had a trial in the big show, has been umpiring for about six years. During that time he has worked in various minor leagues.

Prior to taking up umpiring, Holmes took a fling at the managerial game in the bushes. He was manager and part owner of the Saginaw (Mich.) team in the days of the old Michigan State League. That was just before the United States got into the World War. Just when it seemed as if he was in a position to make some money, Uncle Sam took a hand in the war game and baseball went into the discard for the time being.

Holmes, by selling several players to the big show, managed to break even on the season and was willing to dispose of his holdings for just what they cost him.

Recently the Chicago White Sox played an exhibition game in Saginaw. The owner of the club figured that Holmes, the former Saginaw manager, would be an additional card as the umpire. A wire was sent, offering him a hundred and expenses to officiate.

Holmes declined thusly:

"It took me six years to get out of the bushes as an umpire and I don't intend to return to even work an exhibition game. I'm going to stick to the big league stuff exclusively."

ELKS INVADE SULPHUR FIELD

Strong Local Club Out of Town Today

Headed by their skipper, Cliff Gunn, the Port Arthur Elks leave for the climes of Sulphur, Texas, today to tangle up with the Sulphur Mines club in what is calculated to be one of their hardest games of the season.

The Sulphur club has won the majority of the games it has played this season, while the local Elkies likewise claim an enviable record in the fact that of seven games played, seven have been won, while an eighth went for a tie at Saratoga.

The club Skipper Gunn is carrying with him today includes the following.

Hooker, Priester, Morgan, Burch, Fullbright, Jordan, Romero, Bell, Mazorol, Cook and Leach.

Zev Wins Belmont Handicap for Three Year Olds in 2:04

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., June 9.—Zev won the Belmont handicap today with Chickvale second and Rialto third.

Vigil, winner of the Preakness was scratched.

Zev jumped to the front in the first quarter and was never headed. Martingale trailed behind him for a while, but Zev drew away fast.

The time was 2:04 3-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths.

Sets Fast Pace

NEW YORK, June 9.—Frank Hussey, 19 year old Stuyvesant high school sprinter, was clocked in 9 3-5 seconds for the 100 yard dash in a public school's meet here this afternoon. Hussey ran away from a field of school boy competitors and joined Dan Kelley, Charley Paddock and Howard Drew among the champions whose names are on the records as having run the hundred in nine and three fifths.

Cops Derby

OMAHA, Neb., June 9.—Abraham, owned by Charles Irwin, this afternoon won the Ak-Sar-Ben Derby at a mile and an eighth. Wild Heather was second and Reap was third. The track was very muddy. Time 2:04 2-5.

Pete Herman, His Eyes Aglow, Is Back From "Land of Darkness"

Popular Bantam Scrapper Wins Battle With Blindness; Recuperates With Visions of Managership

NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—Pete Herman is back from the land of eternal darkness.

And now with his one feeble eye, he is looking about for the coming bantam champion.

He wants to take a likely lad under his wing, teach him the rudiments of the game, then the finer points. He longs to have the satisfaction of beholding his protege wearing the crown of Fistiana, which once belonged to him.

Herman won his fight against total blindness through the same superlative courage, the same indomitable will power he displayed in his palmiest days in the ring, according to Dr. Jonas Rosenthal.

It was Dr. Rosenthal who stuck by the bedside during the hours of Pete's long struggle. It was Dr. Rosenthal, Pete says, who did more than any other physician in restoring his sight.

"The other doctors," Pete relates, "said it was impossible for me to ever see again. But Dr. Rosenthal remained with me. And now my left eye is growing stronger every day.

"Dr. Rosenthal, my wife, my faithful nurse, Mrs. Guiotta, and St. Rita, 'patron of the impossible,' pulled me through.

"When the other doctors gave up, my wife and I talked it over. We began praying to St. Rita. And she came to our rescue.

"It was through her, I firmly believe, that we chanced to obtain the services of Dr. Rosenthal.

"God alone knows the blessing it was when the bandages were removed — when I gazed and beheld again my wife and two baby girls, Rita, named for the good saint, and little Rosemarie.

"Only a father of a baby girl can appreciate how happy I was when I could look into my little ones' faces again; to see how they had grown, and to know I was going to be well and strong again and do what I always had hoped I might—give them a good education and assist them in becoming good Christian women.

"'Doc,' I said, when the bandage was taken off, 'I can see! I can see!' And I threw my arms about my wife and the kiddies and the doctor and even my German police dog, 'Kaiser.'

"That dog seemed to be just as excited as everyone else. He nearly upset all the furniture in my room as he ran around the bed, barking and wagging his tail."

Pete was blinded in the right eye in 1917 while boxing for a fund to provide tobacco and cigarets for American soldiers and sailors. Keeping his infirmity a secret, he won back the bantam championship.

His right eye revealed no signs of lifelessness. It was months before his opponents learned of his disability.

A little more than a year ago he was compelled to retire from the ring. For months his left eye had been growing weaker.

In his last scrap with Roy Moore at Boston, he was hooted for stalling. But his sight was so weak he could see his man only at close quarters. Despite this handicap, he won the decision.

HOLD UP RACES FOR BALL GAME

Speedway Schedule Set for Sunday, June 17th

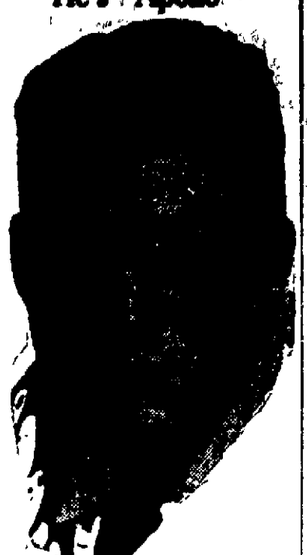

The next race at the East Texas Speedway, Port Arthur's new automobile race track, will be held Sunday, June 17, always weather permitting. There are two actuating causes for the announcement of this date. One is that both racing and baseball are attractive sports. Beaumont and Houston play in Beaumont this afternoon and the speedway management believes it would be unsportsmanlike as well as unwise to mix dates with the baseball enthusiasts. The second is that the first races on the speedway were held under difficult circumstances. The course was too rough and too dusty, due to the rapid work required to recover from the damages of the previous heavy storm. The management has had men busily at work ever since the first race putting the course and the grounds in better order for racing and for caring for race patrons. By June 17 the available parking space will have been materially increased, several additional entrances and exits will have been provided and the race track proper will have been shorn of all its roughness and most of its dust.

Another advantage of waiting until June 17 for the next racing event will be the appearance on the local track of more and faster cars. Quite a number of the fast racers have been damaged in recent racing and require rebuilding. Three of the cars banged up in the last race here still are far from recovery, but will be in the running again with plenty of speed by the seventeenth. More time also will have been given local aspirants to racing honors to get ready for competition.

Glenn Breed, owner and driver of one of the fastest, if not the fastest racing automobiles in the south, will be one of the sure-fire entrants at the next races. Breed will be a real match for the Orange Mercer. Breed was out of the running on opening day, but came back into racing at Houston a week ago and won everything in sight. The Mercer also was out of the running on opening day, but will have replaced the burned-out magneto by next Sunday and will be ready for real competition.

Ernest Reid, whose little red racing Ford went over the bank in the opening day races and was thus eliminated for a spell, will be present next Sunday with two racing machines, one of which has a record of 85.9 miles an hour. This will be a new arrival on the local track, never having raced anywhere but Houston since it established its record. Practically all of the other racing machines which appeared last month will be back, particularly since the management of the speedway has assured the drivers the track will be sprinkled and the awful dust storm eliminated. The drivers do not feel that they were able to show Port Arthurians the best they had in stock and are therefore anxious to play a return engagement.

He's "Apollo"

Seniors of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., have voted Henry Penfield, football star, the most shapely athlete on the campus. And the most popular fellow, too.

COUCH ISSUES MAT CHALLENGE

Wants Match With George Avakian

Desirous of an engagement here for July 4th, J. W. Couch, wrestler who is making Port Arthur his home at the present time, and who has appeared on several interesting cards in a local arena, announced last night that he would meet N. G. Avakian, or Charlie Hall here for the Centennial celebration.

Couch, who is tipping the scales at 160 pounds now, is in training "all the time," he said. He has been here for the past eight months, and has been doing considerable road work and keeping his tricky shoulders in trim on the mats as well.

"I will meet Avakian here July 4th in a handicap match," he said last night in a challenge to the latter, "and will probably weigh in at 160 for the bout if I can get it."

Couch was light heavyweight champion of the navy for three years, and treated local fans of the wrestling game to three interesting matches in past bouts.

TELLS SECRETS OF SHORT STOP

Get the High Bound, Says Famous Player

Always play the ball, never let it play you. If you do, you are lost.

Get the high bound. It is the easiest to handle and invariably leaves you in the best position for a hurried throw.

Never play a stationary position. Shift your position with the style of pitch about to be used and the tendency of the batter to hit to certain fields.

In touching a runner always try to be in such a position that you can shift in order to adjust yourself to the runner's style of slide, thus greatly eliminating the chances of injury. This of course is not possible if the play is very close.

Save your arm. The history of most star ball players shows that at some time in their career their arm goes bad. Save your arm by timing your throws to meet the speed of the base runner.

Always play the game fair. An infielder who resorts to unfair tactics to gain his point, is merely courting constant danger. The infielder is at the mercy of the base runner, who, if he so chooses, can easily go out of his way to inflict serious injury.

When you make a misplay, immediately dismiss it. Don't allow the failure to handle a ball properly affect your style. Go after the next one harder than ever, with the determination to wipe out the previous misplay. Call on your courage.

Anticipate your plays whenever possible. In a great many cases the score and the inning determine the way a play should be made. Give thought to these things and figure the play you will make if the ball is hit to you.

Always have a working agreement with your second baseman on every play, so that there is never a slip-up as to who should cover. Nothing makes an infielder look worse than to be out of position on a play.

Try for every ball that is hit in your territory. Never get the impression that it is impossible to make a certain play. You can never tell what is liable to happen in baseball.

Always try to play headsup baseball. This is accomplished by using your "noodle," which in baseball is simply another way of saying that your brain is as essential to good play as the natural ability you possess.

Don't fight the umpire, fight the opposing team. Using the umpire as an alibi is a mighty poor way to cover up a mistake. When he is wrong tell him and forget it, but when he is right let him alone.

Blues Meet Kountze Here This Afternoon

Local fandom of baseball will be treated to an exhibition on Lakeshore today at 3:30 when the Port Arthur Blues and the Kountze Sluggers mix up.

The Blues, formerly the Wampus Cats, have been one of the strongest semi-pro clubs in the city, and are playing a good brand of baseball. Their management is after games with Sabine, Port Neches and Saratoga.

QUEER TANGLE ENDS BALL TILT

Batting Out of Order Costs Game

DETROIT, June 9.—During the recent series between the White Sox and the Tygers, one of the Detroit players ended the game by batting out of order. It is questionable if a major league contest was ever so finished. Only the fact that the improper batsman grounded out, prevented the unusual spectacle of the game being ended, by a batting out-of-order ruling.

Late in the game, Manush batted for Cutshaw, who was playing second for the Tygers. When it came the pitcher's turn to bat, Bassler was sent in as pinch hitter. He received a base on balls. Burke was sent in to run for Bassler. Since Bassler batted for the pitcher and Burke ran for Bassler, Burke, if he continued in the game, must hit as the pitcher.

Burke is an outfielder. Since Cutshaw had been removed for a pinch hitter, Burke was sent in to play second. Despite the fact that Burke took Cutshaw's place in the infield, his place in the batting order was that of the pitcher. Cole, who was sent in to pitch, must therefore bat in the only other vacant spot in the lineup, that of the second baseman.

In the ninth inning, after Pratt, who was batting sixth, grounded out, it was Cole's turn to bat, since Cutshaw followed Pratt in the batting order.

However, instead of Cole coming up, Burke, who should have batted ninth in the pitcher's place, batted seventh, the place occupied by Cutshaw, the original second baseman.

Only the fact that Burke grounded out prevented the game from being ended in a most unusual manner. Captain Collins of the White Sox had the situation all figured out, and had Burke hit safely he would have appealed to Umpire-in-Chief Holmes for a ruling which would have forced the official to call out the proper batsman, Cole.

"Advice" of Friends Is Bad, Says Brady

Beware of accepting too much promiscuous advice from well-meant friends or playing companions.

Their intentions may be all right, but if you are having trouble with some department of your game and they start to advise you what is wrong, it is an even chance that the advice may in the end turn out worse than the disease.

In other words, there may not be anything fundamentally wrong with what you are doing, but simply that you temporarily are hurrying the stroke or doing some little thing easily corrected if properly diagnosed.

Every prominent golfer has had the experience of sometimes getting a trifle off his game during an important tournament and of having some kindly intentioned friend step up and try to tell him what is the matter with his game.

More often than otherwise this friend, or well-wisher, plays around in 90 or 100 and knows comparatively little about the finer points of the game. There are men who can't score in low figures themselves who I'll admit have a pretty good idea of golf fundamentals, but taken by and large it is inadvisable to accept willy-nilly the advice of anybody and everybody.

The best thing to do when you go off your game is to have the professional give you half an hour. He may straighten you out in ten seconds.

I have seen the best of professionals go wrong on their game, worry and fret and apparently be unable to diagnose their own trouble, then have a brother professional tell them the trouble with one glance at their swing.

STEEL SHAFTS RECEIVE TABOO

Barred From Golf Meets of Eastern Clubs

With thousands of people the country over using steel-shafted clubs the need for a more liberal as well as common sense interpretation as to what constitutes a golfer's proper equipment becomes increasingly apparent. Within the last fortnight two organizations, the Metropolitan and the New Jersey golf associations, both loyal to the U. S. G. A., went so far as to issue warnings to the effect that the use of steel-shafted clubs would not be allowed in their events.

It was practically the same at the Westchester county championship, though A. J. Mendes, who started in the qualifying round at Sleepy Hollow, did not realize he had disqualified himself until after the completion of the round when a notice tacked upon the bulletin board was called to his attention.

The experience of Mendes has in a way been duplicated by others. H. C. Chapman, of Greenwich after completing his round in the medal play test of the Garden City invitation tournament last month, was shown the notice barring steel shafts. His contention was that it is no longer possible to procure satisfactory hickory; that is, for the average golfer. The stars, he says, apparently have some inside track whereby they can get well seasoned wood. If everyone could be so fortunate he believes the demand for a change would not be nearly so insistent.

After all, golfers need not worry themselves thin over this competitive ban. Of the 2,000,000 odd devotees in America the percentage of tournament players is so small as to be inconsequential. No matter in what section it may be, it is the same—certain so-called regulars whose faces are familiar, appearing almost always in the usual tournaments.

The longer the United States Golf Association maintains its present attitude toward steel-shafted clubs the more awkward will that august body find the situation from which to "get out from under."

Unquestionably the unsettled condition concerning the present status of the steel-shafted golf clubs is detrimental to the peace of the game in this country. For years it was the stymie which threatened to split the east and west into warring factions. Attempts at a modified stymie gave little satisfaction, and finally the U. S. G. A. after much persuasion induced the west to restore this generally regarded objectionable phase. And there, like a thorn in the side, it continues to stay and annoy.

At "nineteenth hole" sessions, or wherever golfers gather the stymie comes in for unmerciful pannings. In the Westchester county championship one man laid an opponent no less than seven stymies in a single eighteen-hole round. Naturally, the chap who has to try and negotiate these feels that the fates are against him. One can stand a trimming when no doubt exists as to the superiority of the opponent, but to lose as a result of accidents, unfair breaks of the game and so on, invariably goes against the grain.

The stymie in American golf is admitted unpopular; as unpopular as the official taboo on the steel shaft. This is an age when public opinion is making itself felt in no uncertain manner along many lines. Golf rulers, unless extremely blind, should be able to see the warning and heed it while there is yet time.

ON THE JOB

SHELBY, Mont., June 9.—Ye, pickpockets and glib-tongued "con" men!

Here's a little tip.

Better steer clear of Shelby's Fourth of July celebration.

For the law, with bracelets newly oiled, is waiting for you.

Chief of Police Shelton Alsop and Sheriff H. E. Benjamin have your number. So watch your step!

Alsop and Benjamin are directing the policing of Shelby and the Dempsey-Gibbons fight arena.

Detachments of the Montana National Guard, specially deputized members of the American Legion, Pinkerton and Burns' operatives, detectives from the big cities and a retinue of railroad special agents are going to help them uphold the law.

Lieutenant Ray Gaunt, identification officer for the Great Falls police department will be on the job with a slough of Bertillon records.

And federal and state prohibition officers and deputy United States marshals will keep their eyes peeled for purveyors of pre-Volsteadian beverages.

HEIGHTS IN SABINE

The Port Arthur Heights contingent invades the ball diamond at Sabine this afternoon for a game there.

Arrangements have been made to carry over one of the strongest lineups the local club has presented on a foreign field this season, it was announced last night.

The game will be played at 3:30 o'clock.

Our idea of looking out for posterity is taking care of the part which already has arrived.

Legal Notices

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF JEFFERSON COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Jefferson County, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To all persons interested in the Estate of Emil Rieske, Deceased, Mrs. S. S. Leffingwell, has filed in the County Court of Jefferson County, an application for the Probate of the last Will and Testament of said Emil Rieske, Deceased, filed with said application, and for Letters Testamentary which will be heard at the next term of said Court, commencing on the First Monday in July, A. D., 1923, the same being the 2nd day of July A. D. 1923 at the Court House thereof, in Beaumont, Texas, at which time all persons interested in said Estate may appear and contest said application, should they desire to do so.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but nave you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Beaumont, Texas, this, the 30th day of May, A. D. 1923.

(Seal) W. A. COWARD, Clerk.

PLAY HAS NOVEL PLOT

'Let's All Get Married' To Be Presented Friday Evening

Amateur theatricals continue to hold the interest of the younger set, even though school has closed and with it the many operettas and plays which marked the spring season, have been discontinued.

"Let's All Get Married" will be presented Friday evening, June 15, at the First Christian church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society.

A Complete Plot

The play is in two acts, both of which take place in the living room of Professor Maxwell Parrington's home. Many amusing incidents occur.

The story tells of the troubles of Prof. Parrington and his fiance, Marjorie Miller, who have quarreled, following which she has gone to Europe for an extensive visit. Through Prof. Parrington's uncle's will, if the young people are not married by his birthday, which falls on Friday the 13th, they lose a large inheritance. Both have artistic tempers and the whole plot centers around the tempers. The grass is not green on the uncle's grave before the quarrel which sends Marjorie to Europe. He writes her to come home and marry him, but she tersely cables back, "Nothing Doing." It is at this point that the play opens.

An elaborate birthday party is being prepared for Prof. Parrington.

In the meantime however, Prof. Parrington has written a book, which is received with favor by all the newspapers and public, with the exception of a Baltimore paper which writes an unfavorable criticism. The newspaper man, Jack Foster, who writes the criticism, and Prof Parrington's sister, Ethel, are in love with each other. Prof. Parrington knows nothing of the love affair, and knows Foster only by name.

Intrigue

Foster, pretending that he is a clergyman, visits the Parrington home. Prof. Parrington is especially fond of clergymen, and his best friend is Rev. Benjamin Morris, whom Foster willingly says he knows. Complications arise when Rev. Morris also visits the Parrington home.

The family lawyer, Everett Payne, advises Prof. Parrington to marry his stenographer Golda McGrath, in order to receive the inheritance; since the will says that they should be married, and doesn't specify whom they should marry.

Then Marjorie, repentant, arrives from Europe. More complications ensue when she finds Prof. Parrington about to be married. She, too, pretends that she is married; that she has been married six months.

When an escaped burglar is reported to be in the neighborhood Foster decides to put the family silver away. Seeing him with the silver they think he's a burglar. When accused, he declares he's Marjorie's husband. Marjorie, to offset the accusation, tells an imaginative story of her marriage and says after marrying him she found out he was a lunatic. However, as the insane asylum attendants arrive to take him to the asylum, Marjorie confesses, and each tells who's who. Everything ends happily, and several weddings are being solemnized as the curtain falls.

The Cast

The cast for the play includes:

Prof. Maxwell Parrington . . . . . ??
Ethel, his sister—Miss Mary McBride.
Laura Plum, his aunt—Mrs. W. E. Clinton.
Marjorie Miller, his fiance and cousin—Miss Wee Wee Griffin.
Goldie McGrath, his very competent stenographer—Mrs. Willa Robertshaw.
Everett Payne, the family lawyer—John Beshara.
Rev. Benjamin Morris—Carl T. Long.
Dick Havers, a college student—Adrian Gorman.
Jack Foster, a newspaper man—Robert Jernigan.
Biggs, a very satisfactory butler—Steve Vaught.

Small Black Dog Acts As Mother to Gentle Young Lion

BERLIN, June 9.—Berlin's zoo is probably more successful than any other in the world as a breeding place of wild animals. While it lost many inhabitants during the war, care was taken to keep pairs, and the cages are gradually being restocked with animals born in captivity.

Strang foster families are developed by the keepers, who have learned the difficulties of compelling certain mothers to look after their young under the unnatural conditions they face in captivity.

A few months ago a fine lion cub was entrusted to a small black female dog. The young lion is now five times as large as his foster mother and is developing a heavy mane. Still he is as docile as a puppy and he and the little dog remain on the best of terms and play about together to the great joy of visiting chmildren.

MUSIC BLOTS OUT WAR'S MEMORIES

NEW YORK, June 9. — When young Clara Brand, from Germany took her violin from its case on Ellis Island and played American tunes, several "refugees" from the occupied territory of the Vaterland joined in singing our national airs.

It was a joyous throng of Germans that landed here from several ships. They seemed to rejoice in the fact that about the only quota now open for immigrants under the American restrictive law is the German.

They said thousands are anxious to come here from the country now occupied by the French.

DEAL IN MARKS COSTS SPECULATOR $34,666

NEW YORK, June 9.—A verdict by a supreme court jury will cost Isidore Settle, dry goods merchant, $35,666 in addition to $9000 already paid to Albert H. Danino, foreign exchange broker, to settle for a deal in German marks which he entered into in November, 1920.

Danino alleges he lost the money through the failure of Settle to make good on a "short sale" of 12,300,000 marks. Isidore Ehrman of 41 Park Row is attorney for Danino.

REVIVAL ENDS SUNDAY NIGHT

Dr. Moore To Go To Lisbon, Ohio

"The Unpardonable Sin" is the sermon subject at the closing services of the revival at Nazarene tabernacle, Twelfth and Waco streets, Sunday night at 7:30.

Immediately after the services Evangelist J. E. L. Moore leaves for New Orleans en route to Lisbon, Ohio, where he will spend the rest of June conducting similar meetings.

Conversions made during the past week were to be received into the church during the Sunday morning service. A large class was received last Sunday, but indications were that this Sunday's class would exceed the first enrollment.

The revival has been in progress since May 25. Interest in the song sevice and sermon subjects has been very encouraging to the evangelist and the pastor, they said Saturday.

18 BEST BOOKS NOW IN LIBRARY

10 Are Fiction, 8 of General Nature

Eighteen of the twenty best books listed in the "June Bookman's Score" are obtainable at Memorial library. They comprise ten of the best fiction books and eight of a general nature.

Following is the fiction list:

"The Cathedral", Hugo Walpole; "Black Oxen", Gertrude Atherton; "Babbit", Sinclair Lewis; "Wanderer of Wasteland", Zane Grey; "The Dim Lantern", Temple Bailey; "This Freedom", A. S. M. Hutchison; "The Enchanted April", "Elizabeth"; "Rough Hewn", Dorothy Canfill; "The Breaking Point", Mary Roberts Reinhardt.

Followers of literature in Port Arthur are appreciating the efforts of the local library authorities in maintaining an up-to-date collection that keeps them in touch with the best literature of the county, officials said.

FUR COAT ALIMONY

ELWOOD, Ind., June 9.—Not satisfied with $1500 alimony, $100 for support and her former name, which were awarded to her when she was granted a divorce from Alva E. Alexander, Rozetta L. Alexander entered a claim for her husband's fur coat. The court issued an order that the overcoat be given to her.

THE SUNDAY NEWS' SOCIAL AND CLUB PAGE

Social Calendar Records Many Hospitalities for Students and Visitors

WITH the advance of the month of June, the social calendar records many dates for hospitalities for the younger set. The homecoming of students from schools in all sections of Texas and other states is the signal for a multitude of parties, luncheons and dances in their honor; and with so many attractive visiting girls here with the returned students the summer lethargy, which so often descends upon society during the warm days, promises to be brightened occasionally with charming affairs.

With the close of school, the younger society set will also have more leisure hours to devote to the entertaining, and many are the delightfully informal affairs which will mark the coming weeks.

Among the visiting girls in Port Arthur, whose stay is the inspiration of numerous affairs is Miss Louise Handley of Wadley, Ala., who is visiting with Misses Mary Virginia Latimer, Evelyne Baker and Beulah Floy Bledsoe, former classmates at Ward-Belmont. Miss Marian Rogers of Houston is another charming out-of-town visitor, who is Miss Baker's guest. Miss Rogers and Miss Baker were roommates at Ward-Belmont.

Miss Evaline Sellers of Fort Worth, the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Elliott, and Miss Bessie Monroe of New Orleans, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. D. P. Sheeks, are also being feted extensively while here.

On the social calendar for the coming week are several bridge parties for the out-of town visitors, to say nothing of the pleasing affairs given last week. On Tuesday Misses Thelma Barnes and Ida Belle Barnes will entertain the young women with a bridge at their home on Lake Shore drive; and on Wednesday Miss Beulah Floy Bledsoe has arranged a bridge for the visitors.

One of the attractively appointed affairs of the past week in compliment to the four charming visitors was Miss Mary Virginia Latimer's luncheon on Thursday afternoon at her lovely home on Fifth street.

Covers were laid for ten, the personnel including Misses Louise Handley, Bessie Monroe, Evaline Sellers, Marian Rogers, Ida Belle Barnes, Evelyne Baker, Louise Pfeiffer, Margaret Kramer, Beulah Floy Bledsoe, and Mary Virginia Latimer.

✦ ✦ ✦

ANOTHER delightful affair given for the Misses Monroe, Handley and Rogers, was the beach party Thursday evening, when a crowd of young people, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Latimer and Mrs. E. P. Baker motored to the beach and after a refreshing dip in the waters of the gulf enjoyed a picnic luncheon on the beach sands.

Those enjoying the occasion were Misses Bessie Monroe, Louise Handley, Mary Virginia Latimer, Marian Rogers, Camilla Baker, Ida Belle Barnes, Evelyne Baker and Thelma Barnes; Messrs. Frank Jenkins, Al Jenkins, Lee Baker, Lynn Baker, Bill Stone, M. Behlur and Dr. McCall.

✦ ✦ ✦

ANOTHER enjoyable summertime hospitality in honor of Miss Bessie Monroe was given on Friday evening when Mrs. D. P. Sheeks entertained with a houseboat party on one of the small islands in Lake Sabine.

The merry crowd of young people assembled at the Sheeks home, 2040 Procter street, about five o'clock, and en masse went aboard the houseboat. After arriving at the island they enjoyed a delightful swim, following which a delectable supper was served on the boat.

Participating in the affair were Misses Bessie Monroe, Evelyne Baker, Beulah Floy Bledsoe, Mary Virginia Latimer, Marian Rodgers, Louise Handley, Louise Pfeiffer, and Ida Belle Barnes; Messrs. David Sparks, Al Jenkins, Frank Jenkins, Lynn Baker, Bill Stone, Frank Ebaugh of New Orleans, and Dr. McCall; Dr. and Mrs. Frank D. Mabry and Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Sheeks.

✦ ✦ ✦

AMONG the attractive affairs given Mrs. W. B. Newman of Washington, D. C., the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Gibson, prior to her departure for Honolulu, was Mrs. E. L. Caldwell's bridge party and forty-two party at her home in the Model addition.

The gold and white motif selected by the hostess to feature the attractive affair was developed in the use of lovely Shasta daisies for floral adornment, clustered in bowls and vases at vantage points about the rooms, and in the bridge table appointments and accessories.

Five tables of bridge players and one table of forty-two were assembled for the afternoon hospitality. In the games of bridge Mrs. Charles Kirschner scored high and received a handsome prize, and Mrs. M. F. Bledsoe received the second favor. Consolation fell to Mrs. Edwards. For success in the games of forty-two, Mrs. trophy. A lovely guest prize HT T H. H. Hudson was awarded the trophy. A lovely guest prize was presented to Mrs. Newman. A lovely ice course, featuring the gold and white theme, was offered after the games.

The personnel of this pleasing affair included Mrs. E. L. Caldwell, Mrs. H. C. Crawford, Mrs. H. H. Hudson, Mrs. C. T. Baker, Mrs. C. H. Gunthorpe, Jr., Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Charles Kirschner, Mrs. R. E. Hill, Mrs. George T. Craig, Mrs. A. V. Cuthrell, Mrs. A. M. Armstrong, Mrs. W. D. McFadden, Mrs. W. J. Steck, Mrs. W. W. Glass, Mrs. J. A. Gibson, Mrs. M. F. Bledsoe, Mrs. Willis Jones, Mrs. J. W. Williams, Mrs. J. R. Denny, Mrs. L. W. McBride, Mrs. E. B. Kolb, Mrs. Edwards, the honor guest, Mrs. W. B. Newman, and the hostess, Mrs. E. L. Caldwell.

AN affair of unusual beauty or adornment was Mrs. Charles F. Dickey's bridge party on Thursday afternoon at her attractive home 2811 Fourth street, arranged in compliment to Mrs. O. G. Wilson of Des Moines, Iowa.

The home was very beautiful for the affair, with a motif of pink, white and green, which was featured in all details and favored in the lovely blossoms which graced the various rooms. Baskets and vases of exquisite pink and white roses were placed at vantage points about the room, beautiful fern and green foliage banked in the large bay window gave an attractive background for the lovely blossoms in graceful arrangement in tall baskets and floor vases. Canary birds in attractive cages hanging above the blossoms gave a distinctive and altogether charming effect to the room, making the environment especially suitable to a summertime affair.

The guests were met at the door by a little colored boy, attired in a suit of white, who ushered them into the reception hall, where they were received by Mrs. Dickey, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Faye Dickey and Mrs. T. J. Twomey.

Six tables of players were assembled for the agreeable diversion, with the bridge tables appointed with accessories in harmony with the color scheme. The tables were outfitted in pink and white covers, and the score pads showed the combination of colors in clever manner. Dainty pink baskets, tied with tulle in which were imbedded pink rosebuds, held the pink and green mints.

Handsome trophies for success were awarded at the close of the games, with the first prize being presented to Mrs. George M. Craig and Mrs. A. V. Cuthrell receiving the second favor. Mrs. Horton L. Drake was awarded the third prize, and the no-trump prize fell to Mrs. J. H. Gaddy of Beaumont. A handsome guest favor was presented to Mrs. Wilson by the hostess.

Table prizes were awarded to Mrs. Paul Wilhelm of Beaumont, Mrs. W. H. McCoy, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. Tryon, Mrs. H. L. Woodall and Mrs. J. K. Tooke. The favored motif was featured in the refreshment course, where ices frozen in the form of pink rosebuds rested on green leaves were served with the white cake.

The personnel included with Mrs. Wilson and the hostess, Mrs. J. W. Tryon, Mrs. F. D. Mabry, Mrs. G. M. Craig, Mrs. Paul Wilhelm of Beaumont, Mrs. Frank Y. Low, Mrs. R. L. Drake, Mrs. Horton L. Drake, Mrs. J. H. Gaddy of Beaumont, Miss T. J. Twomey, Mrs. W. H. McCoy, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Mrs. W. K. Steen, Mrs. Frank Imhoff, Mrs. F. E. Gifford, Mrs. J. K. Tooke, Mrs. J. E. Grammier, Mrs. G. L. Prichard, Mrs. Tom Dellinger, Mrs. G. C. Barker, Mrs. B. H. Vaughan, Mrs. M. E. Crawford and Miss Faye Dickey.

Attractive Members of The Younger Set Find Careers Worth While

CARVING out careers is still a [illegible] among certain energetic members of the younger society set who [illegible] social gaiety to dip their fingers [illegible] the world's work, for a time at [illegible] for past history has [illegible] careers among the butterflies [illegible] usually sacrificed at the matrimonial altar.

However, it is very interesting to note the latest who have gone in for achievement, both because they prefer to be doing something rather than remaining at home, and also for the interesting work they have chosen.

Miss Beulah Floy Bledsoe, attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Bledsoe, whose return to Port Arthur after finishing in National Park Seminary at Washington, D. C., has stimulated entertainment to a large extent, it has been revealed, and has developed an artistic talent that promises to be very remunerative.

She has purchased the Studio Gift Shop at 724 Procter street, where she is displaying her talent in the numerous lovely hand-painted gifts on display of the studio. Miss Bledsoe has a remarkable talent for painting and making attractive novelties, which often can only be obtained at gift shops.

✦ ✦ ✦

ANOTHER member of the younger set, whose career holds foremost place in her mind, is Miss Gertrude Mae McFadden, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McFadden of 441 Nashville avenue, who will teach voice at John Tarleton College during the summer session.

Miss McFadden takes the place of Elmer Hintz, professor of voice, who will spend the summer in Europe studying music. She has a remarkable voice and is a talented musician. Miss McFadden graduated from the Port Arthur High School with the mid-term class of '22, and studied under Professor A. M. Culpepper while here.

The following extract from the Waco Herald tells of Miss McFadden's choice by Prof. Hintz to take his place during the summer months:

"Miss Gertrude McFadden, an advanced student in voice in Baylor and now studying under the direction of Professor Keep of that department, has accepted a position as voice teacher at John Tarleton College for the coming summer. Besides teaching voice, she will also offer a course in Public School Music Methods and will have charge of the chapel exercises of the school. Miss McFadden is from Port Arthur, this being her first year in Baylor. It is very probable that she will return to finish her work here after conducting the summer course at John Tarleton.

"Miss McFadden was recommended for the position by Professor Keep as being highly capable of filling the position, when Professor Hintz, head of the Department of Music at John Tarleton applied for a suitable teacher from Baylor.

"Upon recommendations reaching the dean of the college, he at once advised Miss McFadden that she had been accepted."

Miss McFadden will return to Port Arthur at the close of the summer session at John Tarleton college and spend the remainder of the summer vacation with her parents, returning to Waco in September to resume her studies at Baylor University.

Once a Wealthy Count, Now Steward on Ship

NEW YORK, June 6.—Passengers who have crossed to Mediterranean ports on the steamship Patria often have remarked on the distinguished bearing, correctness of speech and unfailing courtesy of George Boldour, chief steward.

Today the secret came out. George Boldour is a count, son of Prince Alexander Boldour, Roumania, with Russian family connections that date back to the reign of Catherine the Great.

The gaming tables at Monte Carlo once knew him as a regular and heavy player. Then the World war came. The count was swallowed in the maelstrom and was seen no more by his friends. Wednesday the Patria arrived in Brooklyn. One of the passengers knew the count when he had plenty of money and recognized him. The chief steward admitted his identity.

"Just quietly dropped out of the whirl of things abroad," he said. "When a man has plenty of money he can live up to the title of count. When adversity comes and he is down to a few dollars, he is of no use. So I decided to go to work and here I am."

COLLEGE REUNION

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—One thousand Marquette University graduates are expected to attend their first reunion to be held on alumni day, June 12, this affair being but one event on the program for commencement week. Under a new system the graduates of four or five successive years will return at the same time, that old college acquaintances may be renewed.

BEARS GO FISHING

LITTLE FALLS, Wash., June 9.—Northwest black bears have a new method of fishing. Mother bears, observed by local loggers, wade out into the Cowlitz river so deep that the water reaches their necks.

Moving cautiously, walking slowly on their hind legs down stream, with fore paws outstretched, they patiently await the approach of a salmon swimming upstream. Such a fish, inadvertently brushing against the animal, is quickly grasped and tossed out of the water on to the shore.

...Delivers Sermon ...rn Reserve Exercises

...President of Texas ...ersity in Baccalaure- Exhorts Students to ...e World With Faith

...LAND, Ohio, June 9.—Dr. ...t H. Vinson, who on July 1 will ... from the presidency of the Uni... of Texas to become the head ...Western Reserve University here, ... his first public appearance be... the student body and faculty ... of this institution today. ... delivered the baccalaureate ser... which marked the opening of the ...commencement exercises. He took his ...ic text from Hebrews 11:13, 40:

"These all died in faith not having received the promises but having ... them and greeted them from afar..... God having provided some better thing concerning us, that apart from us they should not be made perfect."

All Not in This Life

He made it plain that all is not gained in this life that is hoped for. He illustrated this fact by the records of the men and women whom the Bible presents for contemplation.

"There are no cynics nor pessimists nor even sufferers from disappointment among them. This fact is presented in the strongest possible contrast. No other group of men has ever conceived for themselves and for the world higher ideals than they have. Nor has it often been given to man to fall so far short of the apparent or even actual attainment of that upon which their hopes were set. The record is outspoken, 'these all died not having received the promise'. To a man it is a record of failure."

Using this statement as a basis Dr. Vinson pointed out that while these all died not having received the promises; they also all died in faith; that while to a man it is a record of failure, also to a man it is a record of faith. While their hopes were not attained their hopes were not abandoned. Dr. Vinson stated that the explanation of all this lies embodied in the one word—faith. Continuing, he said:

"But this faith of theirs was no vague and abstract idealism, no mere sensing of the present imperfection of things in general coupled with a mere of feeling that somehow, some way, sometime, better conditions must prevail. It was a definite thing, a concrete thing, a living dynamic thing, founded upon certain ineradicable convictions which persisted in spite of all appearances and won out in every case and over all opposition.

A Conviction of God

For one thing it had at the bottom of it a conviction of God, a clear cut, definite and comprehensible point of view, the background of the world of men and things, the fundamental basis of all other beliefs. And this is the glory of the Scriptures and of the men and women of Scripture. Say what you will of them otherwise, their power over men of succeeding ages lies in this starting point of all their teaching and thinking. On the first page it stands 'in the beginning God', and from there to the end that is the assumption, consistently adhered to, the holding of which brings order and system and hope, and its abandonment, disruption, and chaos and despair.

"And we must somehow get back to this in a very vital foundation if we would save our civilization and introduce once more the element of hopefulness into our modern life. We can no more do without God than our fathers could. 'If man is to have a vital religion he can not believe that the universe is a 'fool's house' which will bring to naught his highest endeavors. He must be able to face the universal reality of which he is a part with confidence that it is on the side of his highest endeavors.'—Ellwood. We must give attention to the widespread suspicion that much of our culture today as it is crystalized in our great universities is an essentially atheistic culture and that our young people are going out into the world with only a tolerant smile for their fathers' faith, having abandoned it but having nothing to take its place."

CANADA TO PROBE HIGH SUGAR PRICE

TORONTO, June 9.—Canadian sugar refiners, who testified before the agriculture committee of parliament in connection with that body's investigation of existing prices, may again be summoned for examination and to answer charges of unfair treatment made by sugar beet growers of Ontario.

ARCHITECTURE NEW LURE

PARIS, June 9.—Women here are taking up architecture as a new profession. Of 50 successful competitors in a field of 400 in a recent competition for entry to the school of fine arts four girls were received in the section of architecture.

INVITES COUNTY TO BE HIS GUEST

Bonham, Texas, Lawyer Plans Program for 60,000

BONHAM, Texas, June 9—Will H. Evans of Bonham is going to give a party. It will be a party such as this part of Texas, at least, has never seen before. For three days and nights the entire citizenship of Fannin county is to be his guests at a series of 11 entertainment programs, without costs to anyone except Evans, who for many years has been active in virtually all public, civic and improvement activities in this section.

Evans, a lawyer, real estate man and bank director, declares his reason is simply this:

"I want to say 'Thank You' to all the people for their many kindnesses to me. When I came here in 1890, a 19-year-old youth direct from the farm, I needed encouragement more than anything else. I got it. The people of Fannin county have been good to me. I appreciate it, and this is the way I'm taking to announce my gratitude."

Party Set for July 10 to 12

He has set the dates for his "party" here as July 10 to 12, for by that time the schools will be closed for the summer, the farmers will have their crops laid by, and the "protracted meetings" will have ended. Everyone will be free to enjoy Will Evans' hospitality.

The programs have been divided into classes to suit persons of all ages, but at each there will be music, addresses, motion pictures and other forms of entertainment. Boys and girls who have won various contests in the Fannin county schools will have places on the programs. A theater has been leased for many of the events.

All that the 60,000 inhabitants of the county will have to do will be to provide their own food and refreshments. Everything else at the party is on Evans.

He has announced that the party is not restricted to Fannin county alone. He wants all his friends in other counties to be present as well.

CANADIAN MISSION IN TOUR OF ENGLAND

VANCOUVER, June 9—A trade mission, consisting of a party of 20 members of the Vancouver Board of Trade, left here recently for Great Britain.

The trip to the old country is for the purpose of bringing British Columbia and British trade and industry into closer touch.

Sleeps With Corpse Of Wife, Off to Work Unaware of Death

DENVER, Colo., June 9—E. W. Einser, painter and decorator, slept in the same bed with the corpse of his wife and went to work in the morning without knowing she was dead.

Deputy Coroner George Bostwick said Mrs. Einser's death was due to natural causes. She was 50 years old and had been a sufferer from tuberculosis for many years.

Einser said he arose at 6:30 o'clock. As he got out of bed, half awake, he shook his wife a couple of times, he told the police, and then went out of the room and to work, thinking she was getting up. J. J. Smith, 247 Larimer street, who had an appointment with Einser to obtain employment, called at the Einser home, 619 Twenty-second street, at 8 o'clock.

Finding Einser gone from the shop in the front part of the place, Smith walked back into the living quarters. Seeing Mrs. Einser lying in bed, he was alarmed at the whiteness of her face and summoned the police.

MIRACLE SHOCK RESTORES SIGHT

After Year of Blindness Girl Of 13 Sees Again

CORTLAND, Ohio, June 9—Pink and white blossoms of the peach and apple trees are more beautiful than ever to 13-year-old Gladys Shaffer here.

For a modern miracle has reopened her sightless eyes.

A marvelous panorama is slowly unfolding before her as she wanders through the orchard back of her home.

The flowers and the shrubs, the robins and the blue bird, the fish in the brook—all have taken on a new meaning for Gladys.

A year ago a bolt of lightning left her totally blind. Specialists declared her sight probably never would be restored.

But a prosaic vacuum cleaner did the unusual. Gladys, unscrewing the plug from a light socket, touched the contacts with her right hand. A shock went through her whole body.

"Oh Mother!" she called. "I can see again!"

"It was just as if my eyeball had turned over," she explained later.

Her recovery is a mystery to physicians, who predicted total blindness for the girl whose blue eyes behind their heavy dark glasses now sparkle with the joy of complete happiness.

CANNIBALS ARE FORCED TO QUIT

African Natives Face Prison Sentence by Decree

PARIS, June 5.—By signing a decree making cannibalism punishable by one to ten years in prison, President Millerand has supplied a law very much needed at present in the criminal code of France.

Although it is recounted in the early history of what is now France that the savages of Brittany used to invade Gaul and eat the thighs of its shepherds the country had become quite civilized by the time the present French criminal code was put together. It was not considered necessary to prohibit cannibalism specifically.

However for the past decade the French authorities in the colonies of equatorial Africa have had a great deal of difficulty with cannibalism. All the arguments to prove it an immoral and odius practice were too subtle for the native savages. Finally the colonial authorities decided the only practical way to impress the natives with the horror of cannibalism was to punish it with hard labor.

If the native obtained his meal by murder the legal processes were simplified. There was a law for that. And even if he simply received a choice morsel from a friend without participating in the kill, he was jailed for receiving stolen goods.

Legalistic difficulties arose, however, when natural death provided material for a festival touched by no law. Now President Millerand has supplied one.

There is no loophole in the law, pointed out by the colonial authorities—it forbids cannibalism or traffic in human flesh by the "natives." According to the colonial authorities, it would have been well to forbid it generally—because the extraordinary conditions of tropical life produce queer perversions and reversions, and civilized men have been known to develop a taste for human flesh.

The cost per acre of killing Johnson or Bermuda grass will be, where it is solid sod from $12.50 to $15. It should be applied like a heavy dew or light shower of rain with any force or air pressure spray. Every farmer should take advantage now and kill out all spots of grass while he can do it at so much less expense and save his fields or farms from being solid sod. Land can be planted to any crop with safety 10 days after spraying. Persimmon or Sassafras sprouts while young and tender, can also be killed by spraying the tender tops thus causing the stools to soon decay and rot out. This can be done at a very small expense and save the chopping year after year. Sold and distributed by

Recently completed at a cost of 47,000, the first unit of the $100,000 difice planned by the congregation f the First Baptist church. Fifth treet and Shreveport avenue, will be pened for its first Sunday services nday.

42 Rooms

With 42 rooms, arranged for six unday school departments, including n auditorium with a seating capacity or 650, the four-story brick building the last word in church buildings, ccording to its designers. The first loor is given over to assembly rooms nd class rooms for the primary and eginners' departments, the second oor has the main auditorium, with lass rooms, and on the third floor re quarters for the junior and inter-ediate departments, each provided ith an assembly room, 14 class ooms, fitted with built-in seats and lackboards arranged on and below alconies running around two sides of he department assembly rooms, and he fourth floor is divided into class ooms.

Accommodations for at least 1,000 ersons distributed throughout the uilding is the capacity estimated for he new unit by Rev. Dr. C. W. Culp, astor of the church. This number ould be comfortably housed in the uilding, he said, while in case of ecessity, the facilities are ample for everal hundred more.

Cost Under Estimate

"The cost of the Sunday school nit is about $7,000 under the orig-nal estimate," Dr. Culp said. "A uilding fund drive was launched one ear ago, and with the cash offering f $15,000 which we expect to have Sunday, we will have raised $27,000 f the total $47,000 representing the ntire cost of the first unit," he said

During the 25 months Dr. Culp has een pastor of the First Baptist hurch, the congregation has paid off $5,000 on the church property when e came to Port Arthur, raised $27,-00 of the $47,000 for the first unit f the $100,000 edifice planned, and ompleted this unit, members of the hurch pointed out Saturday.

Present plans call for removing the ntire debt on the first unit, and start-ng construction work on the main uditorium within the next 12 months. ntil the second unit of the edifice built, the present structure will ouse the Sunday school and other ervices of the congregation.

HOW IT WILL LOOK WHEN COMPLETED

The congregation of the First Baptist church today goes into the first unit of this $100,000 edifice planned to be erected at Fifth street and Shreveport avenue within the next 18 months. Completed recently at a cost of approximately $47,000, the first unit of the structure will house the church and Sunday school activities until the auditorium is built.

SACRED CONCERT BY CHURCH CHOIR

Baptist Program to Start At 7:30 Tonight

Among interesting affairs of the week is the sacred concert, to be given this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

1. Processional: "Holy, Holly, Holy."
2. Invocation: Rev. C. W. Culp—Congregation standing.
3. Anthem: "The Earth is the Lord's" (Adams)—Choir. Soloist, A. Foster.
4. Trombone solo: "My Song of Songs" (Smith)—Earl Culp.
5. Vocal duet: "Evening Song" (Bartlett)—Mrs. McGuire and Miss Hendrickson.
6. Anthem: "Father of Mercies," (Schnecker)—Choir. Soloists: Mrs. McGuire and Mr. Benson.
7. Violin solo: D Minor Concerto, Andante, (Vieuxtemps)—Miss Gladys Harned of Beaumont.
8. Contralto solo: "Ninety and Nine," (Edward Campion)—Miss Maudie Hendrickson.
9. Instrumental trio: "The Heavens are Telling," from "The Creation." (Hadyn)—Miss Jewell and Gladys Harned and Mr. McGuire.
10. Anthem: "I Was God" (North)—Choir. Quartette: Misses Griffis and Hendrickson; Messrs. Foster and Benson.
11. Mezzo soprano solo: "A Prayer." (Harriet Ware)—Miss Lucy Griffis of Yazoo City, Miss.
12. Short talk: Dr. C. W. Culp.
13. Offertory: Mr. McGuire.
14. Anthem: "Blessing and Glory" (Rachminoff)—Choir.
15. Recessional: "Onward Christian Soldiers"—Choir and congregation.

Benediction.

The program will be given under the direction of Mrs. E. H. McGuire. Mr. McGuire will preside at the organ.

Members of the choir who will assist in the sacred concert this evening are:

Sopranos: Mesdames Corley, Redd, and McGuire; Misses Price, Bean, Hendrickson, and Campbell.

Altos: Mesdames Caldwell, Benson, Culp, Thomas, and Humphrey; and Miss Griffis.

Tenors: Messrs. Foster, Corley, Bolton, Harrington, and Lumbley.

Basses: Messrs. Benson, Rader, Bushong, Davis and Hilliard.

First Baptist church is estimated at 900, and during the time Dr. Culp has been pastor, 600 additions to the church are shown on the records. This number does not represent a net gain, due to the fact that many of these new members replace other members who have left the city, it is pointed out.

Until last Sunday, church activities of the First Baptist congregation were carried on in a frame building built in 1903 on the site of the new proposed church. This frame building, added to three times and balconies installed within in order to meet the increasing demands of the congregation, was razed to make way for the new structure. When torn down, this old edifice had a seating capacity of only 500, less by 150 than the main auditorium in the first unit of the new church will seat, Dr. Culp said.

On Nov. 26 last, Foster was murdered by a shot fired from the darkness. The last of the series of six "Lover's Lane" murders was the night of May 24, last.

Admits "Shaking Down" Couples

"I did 'shake down' a dozen couples in the East End residential section," he told Inspector of Detectives Griffin, in the presence of Maj. Thomas H. Allen, commissioner of fire and police; Joseph B. Burmey, chief of police, and reporters.

Nearly a score of business and professional men and women have been questioned at detective headquarters, after having been promised by police officials that their names would not be divulged.

Johnson has begged that the ordeal of a trial be spared him; that he be permitted to plead guilty and take a compromise sentence of three years in the Tennessee penitentiary.

"I'm ready to go now and take my medicine," he said. "But don't implicate me in those killings. I had nothing to do with them."

His young wife proposes to establish an alibi for Johnson for his whereabouts the nights of the murders. They were married three years ago and have a 2-year-old baby. She has declared her faith in her husband.

A wealthy downtown dealer in diamonds was one of the policeman's victims, according to Johnson's signed confession.

"I held him up at the point of a pistol one night in Overton park when he had halted his car at a dark spot," the policeman said. "There was a young woman in the car with him. I think he recognized me and I only took one bill from him which he threw upon the ground. I knew him."

The diamond dealer told Inspector Griffin he would prosecute the policeman.

The policeman was suspended about a month ago and had been under surveillance since that time. His arrest followed 10 days after the Spencer killing when Miss Laura Wheaton Johnson, 21, school teacher, was wounded seriously.

Used Police Star

In his confession, the policeman told of 12 holdups he had staged in the East End section and in which he used his police star and pistol to make men found with women in automobiles pay toll. In some instances, he explained, he just "held 'em up in regular bandit style" without revealing his identity as a policeman.

Correct Jewelry for Men Told by Dallas Man at Convention

Arthur A. Everts of Dallas answered this question at the annual meeting of the National Jewelers Association here.

"Both cuff-links and pins are set with stones of various colors mounted in gold, platinum or white gold and either harmonize with his clothes or give a striking note of color contrast. The operation is made on the clavicle or shoulder and a certain portion of the anatomy removed.

SAYS GIRLS' $2 HOSE IS LUXURY

Tennessee Judge Gives Very Unique Decision

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 9.—When women's hosiery reach the price of $2 a pair they cross the line that divides moderation from luxury.

Such is an opinion handed down in circuit court here by Judge Von A. Huffaker in a case in which the M. M. Newcomer Co. sued L. A. Farrell for a bill of $67.67 for wearing apparel for his wife. The couple have been divorced since the bill was contracted, the testimony showed.

The principle involved was whether or not a man could be forced to pay his wife's bills. Some of the wearing apparel was for children of the couple.

The court apparently held that the husband should pay the bills of his family and for the clothing of wife and children even if there had been a divorce since. But when he came to items of hosiery that cost $2 and upward, the decision took another turn. Judge Huffaker declared when a pair of hose soars to the $2 mark it is too high a price for any woman to afflict a man's purse with.

Therefore, Judge Huffaker knocked off of the judgment the sum of $20, that being the amount he asserted the wife had indulged in unwarranted luxury. He declared that it was not right for a husband to be made to pay $2, $3 and more a pair for his wife's hosiery. The court also knocked $10 off the bill for a corset. Judge Huffaker expressed the opinion that garments of this nature should be priced more moderately. The judgment was for $47.

Thieves, who had piled up silverware and other loot, were frightened off when the cat, which had been let out when the thieves entered, clawed at a screen door and aroused the family. Keiser went downstairs just as the thieves were fleeing.

Why try to wear a plate that covers the roof of your mouth when you can come to us and have a roofless plate made that is guaranteed to fit and will prevent gaging? The only place in town they are to be had.

You Are Entitled to Credit on Dental Work! Why Wait and Suffer Till You Save the Cash?

The more we think of the step we took when we announced that we would do dental work on an easy payment plan—the more we talk to folks who come to us to have their dental work done on that plan—the more we wonder that we or someone else didn't realize long before that Dentistry ought to be done on a credit basis in justice to everybody.

There's no reason in the world why you should be forced to pay cash to have your teeth put in perfect condition when you can buy practically everything else on credit,—furniture, jewelery, clothing, automobiles; in fact we don't know of anything you can't buy on credit.

You are entitled to credit on dentistry and we are certainly glad in more ways than one that we were the first dentists in the State of Texas, so far as we know, who established credit dentistry.

We are glad because it was right.

We are glad because folks appreciate it and a greater number are coming to us day after day to have their dental work done on our easy payment plan.

We are glad because it has enabled us to reduce our prices and give everyone the best dental work obtainable for considerably less than they would pay elsewhere.

And after all, the one big thing about credit dentistry is that it enables everyone to get their dental work done when they need it. That's the outstanding feature that no one should overlook.

Dental work should never be put off. It ought to be done right now—with the first ache or before an ache—when a cavity or bad tooth develops.

By having your dental work done right now—you will save money—and you will prevent pain.

Why wait?

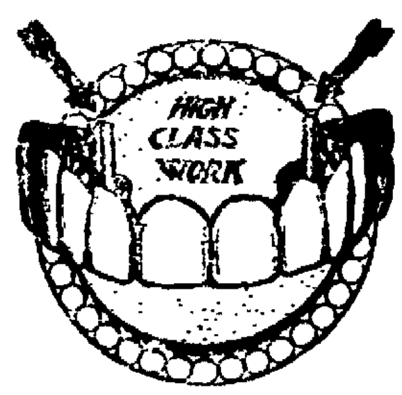

Now is the time.

Just come to our offices and we will give your teeth a thorough examination and tell you what it will cost to put them in perfect shape.

We will start right then to do the work if you want us to. You don't have to worry about the bill at all. We'll make any arrangement that satisfies you for payment in small weekly sums after the work is completed.

Use your credit. You are entitled to it. Get your teeth fixed now! Come to Drs. Blake & Sheffield and pay as you are able.

Samaritan Gives Stranger a Lift With the Usual Result

There's one young man who swears never again to be a good Samaritan. Here's why.

Starting from Dallas on an over-land vacation trip, he came as far as Bryan, Texas, when he met a man on the road who asked for a "lift," which he readily gave. Arriving at Port Arthur he stopped and made several purchases. Before leaving the car he asked his "stranger" companion to wait in it that he would be back presently.

When he came back to the corner where the car had been parked, he discovered, to his astonishment, that both the automobile and the occupant had disappeared. At first believing the fellow had possibly driven around the block, and that he would be back, he waited.

But waiting became tiresome. Then it dawned upon him that the stranger took advantage of the occasion and he feared the worst. He notified the police, but nothing has been learned.

Not only did the fellow make away with the automobile, but the vacationist's hat, coat and baggage were also in the car.

Now his vacation has been ruined.

WINNING CAR USED WILLARD

Tommy Milton's Ignition Equipment Aid, Claims

Tommy Milton's great victory at the Indianapolis Speedway races against a field of the greatest automobile drivers in the country proved a victory not only for the driver and the car but also for the equipment which carried the car into first place.

The winning car was equipped with battery ignition, using a Willard battery. Machines driven by Harry Hartz, Jimmy Murphy and Earl Cooper who finished second, third and fourth, respectively, were also battery equipped with Willards, according to Gene Rayburn of the Port Arthur Tire and Sporting Goods Store.

Last year there was but one car in the race Willard equipped, that of Jimmy Murphy, the winner. This year out of the ten who finished within the money seven carried Willard batteries. This was indeed a great victory for this battery.

The Indianapolis classic is the most gruelling test that can be imigined not only for the drivers and their cars, but also for the storage battery. In the constant bumping and banging of the car in the 500 miles of the race the storage battery must continue to function giving its eight sparks for every revolution of the powerful engines. The wining car was driven at an engine speed of 5600 revolutions a minute, requiring the Willard battery to supply 44,800 sparks per minute. Thus the battery on the winning car was required to furnish approximately thirteen and a half million sparks, a truly remarkable performance considering that no generator is carried on a racing car to recharge the battery.

USED CARS MUST GO AT A PROFIT

Legitimate Profit Must Be Added to Overhead

Last year over $100,000,000 was lost by automobile dealers all over the country in the handling of used cars. These figures come from the National Automobile Dealers Associations 1923 year book, according to E. P. Baker, Dodge Brothers dealer of Port Arthur. Baker says that according to the figures from the association the reason for this tremendous loss is because of the fact that a greater part of the used car business is an unnecessary cut throat business that exist in most every city.

"The great trouble," says Baker, "lies in the fact that dealers all over the country try to make the profits from their new car business pay for the handling of their 'used car' business too. It takes just as much of a salesman's time, just as much expense to sell a used car over as it does to sell a new car. Therefore the new car department of most dealers' business is burdened with the overhead expense not only of its own department but also with the used car department.

"The sooner the dealers all over the country find out the reason that they are not making the money that they is on account of their used car department and put it on the same business that they do their new car department, the better off the automobile industry will be.

"A used car is a piece of merchandise, just the same as a new car, and the sooner that we find out that it should be justly appraised—then a legitimate profit added for the expense of handling it, then the better off we will be. But until this is done, the used car business will always be unsatisfactory and unprofitable."

Buick Dealer Forecasts Increase in Prices

"Advancing commodity prices are being watched with attentive interest by automobile men. It is recognized that the present high rate of sales bespeaks, more than anything else, increasing business activity all over the country, and in all lines. This, while good for business, in the common phrase, also works the other way. For greater business activity spells increasing demand come, generally, higher prices. How high commodity prices may go and what will be the consquence, is still an open question."

"For example," says Mart May of the Smith-May Motor Co., Buick dealers, "high cotton has arrived and along with it higher prices for cotton products of every description. Gray goods, quoted at 11 1-2 cents a yard, stood at 8 1-3 on the corresponding date a year ago. Hides have advanced in the year from 15 34 to 19 1-2 cents per pound.

"Lead has about doubled in price. Zinc has jumped from 29 to 42 cents per pound. Basic pig iron has jumped from $18 to $28, while Bessemer steel billets have risen from $28 to $40; copper from 14c to 17c. Another advance in tires is likely. The principal factor which will enter into the new price elevation is, of course, the restriction placed upon crude rubber production by the British government and the exorbitant tax which American consumers of rubber must pay the British government.

"Automobile sales will reach their peak during the next few months. Railroad transportation was never more serious than it is at present. Railroad facilities at all the big gateways are congested. If they are in this condition now, what will they be when the movement of the spring business is made necessary? Automobile dealers today are making every possible effort to get all the automobiles in their warehouses that the factories can ship, believing that when the spring business opens, the railroad congestion will delay shipping from thirty to sixty days.

"There are three reasons why anyone contemplating the purchase of an automobile this spring should place the order now: An anticipated advance in price; a shortage of railroad equipment, which is bound to be felt this spring the heavy booking of orders, which is now taking place, which orders will and should have preference of delivery."

Three hundred thousand copies of one popular American novel will be sold this year, it is predicted.

41,681 Ford Trucks Sold in First Quarter

Sales of 41,681 Ford Trucks during the first quarter setting a new high record, bear out predictions made earlier that the use of the one-ton truck in hauling and delivery systems will be greater this year than ever before.

Not only is the Ford truck rapidly coming into more general use in the commercial field, where its dependability, ease of operation ad adaptability to all requirements make it the most popular, but throughout the agricultural sections of the country, it is fast being adopted by the farmer as the best means of solving his problem for quicker and cheaper transportation of his products from the farm to the city.

March sales of Ford trucks, which reached the new high mark of 18,717, exceeded by more than 1,000 the sales for the first three months of 1922, totalling 17,856, and were 50 per cent higher than the sales of February of this year.

TIRE WEAR

Rear tires, because of tractive and brake strain, wear more rapidly than front ones. The right rear tire is subjected to more strain than the left, because of the ring drive, and because it is lower on the crown of the road, if not in the rough at the side, as other cars are passed. Careful drivers change back tires for front, and frequently right tires for left. Thus the mileage of the tire is increased.

BLOWOUTS FROM BRUISED TIRES

Tires frequently do not blow out at the time they are injured. Often they run for several hundred or even for a thousand miles after being seriously bruised. The cotton fibres in the ruptured carcass snap gradually, one by one. This breaking continues to weaken the tire until the final result is a blowout.

AN EFFICIENCY TIP

The distributor head is one unit of a car that should have careful attention. Remove the different parts and clean out the dust with a cloth saturated with gasoline. If the parts are very black, use fine sandpaper and afterwards wipe off carefully.

WATER IN THE GAS

Water in gasoline can be determined by the irregular misfiring of the engine. If much is present, it causes it to stop and makes starting difficult. If water is suspected, the drain-cock at the bottom of the carburetor should be opened and the contents of the float-chamber should be drawn off into a tumbler. Water and gasoline do not mix any more than water and oil, and if the latter is present it can be readily seen. The line of separation between the gasoline and water is perfectly distinct. Liquid should be drawn until it comes free of water.

TUBE REPAIR KIT IS LIKE INSURANCE

Probably one of the most important accessories for every motorist to have in his car is a tube repair kit. It is very much like life insurance in that it is no good at all until needed. When it is needed, it is indispensable. This fact is particularly true when tires are punctured many miles from any repair station. Considering the kit's small cost, tire men say it is the cheapest insurance possible against country road delays and expense.

An analysis of tire specifications for 1922 shows that the 32x4 tire was the most popular size for passenger cars, according to leading tire men.

Grain storage capacity at Minneapolis is 5,519,500 bushels.

A Used Car Stock

The careful automobile dealer who is building for permanence, makes certain that he is selling good automobiles.

The tendency of the times is for the careful dealers to study their territories. They know the comparatively few makes of cars that are readily saleable in thei rterritory.

These dealers are beginning to restrict their purchases of old cars to those that are readily saleable and on which they can make the narrow margin of profit to which they are entitled.

The buyer of a new car which is outside of this list of readily saleable cars, is bound to suffer when he desires to dispose of the car. He will be the victim of having bought a "Sticker"—a car that is slow of sale.

Buying an automobile, new or old, can be sale-guarded by selecting a car that is within the circle which the careful dealer knows is readily saleable in his territory.
